GERMANY WANTS ALLIES TO LAY CARDS ON TABLE

OBJECT TO CONTINUED RETENTION OF THE COLOGNE AREA

(By United Press)
Berlin, Dec. 30.—A challenge to the allies to "lay their cards on the table" regarding the continued occupation of Cologne and allegations of Germany's failure to disarm was voiced by Foreign Minister Stresemann today in a statement to the foreign press correspondents.

Stresemann urged the allies to negotiate with the German government and warned them not to overtax Germany's patience and "will for understanding" lest the peace of Europe be shattered.

The German foreign minister warned that continued harrasing of Germany and continued retention of the Cologne area by the allies will mean "bankruptcy of the policy—fulfillment and pacification—which the Marx government adopted toward the Dawes plan."

German ambassadors were instructed today to make further efforts to have Cologne evacuated.

TWIN CITIES AUTO SHOW

MUSIC AND PLENTY OF IT TO BE ONE OF STRIKING HIGH-LIGHTS

Twin Cities, Dec. 30.—Music and plenty of it will be one of the striking highlights of the 1925 Twin City Automobile Show, set for the week of Jan. 31 in the Overland Building, midway between the Twin Cities.

At their inception, automobile shows were just exactly what the name signified. Now the dealers are of the opinion that there must be mixed up a little entertainment with the display of the latest motor models.

The dance has been popular with show patrons from the very start and the directors of the Twin City show are spending more money yearly on this department of their great exposition.

This year, two of the best known bands in America will furnish the tuneful stuff for the visitors. Art Landry's famous dance band that has recorded about as many dance records for talking machines as any organization in the world, will supply the rhythm for the style revue that will be furnished by E. E. Atkinson and Company. To the lifting strains of this crew of musicians, the 30 beautiful models will parade each evening, wearing the last word in women's garb.

In another room, where an immense dance floor will be provided, Osborne's famous Nicolet House orchestra will perform. There will be no letup in the dance music and as fast as the players are exhausted relief men will continue.

Indications six weeks in advance of the opening point to the greatest number of square feet of exhibits ever seen at a local motor show. D. A. Odell, president of the association, predicts that there will not be an inch of available display room two weeks before opening day.

The cross bill also stated that Miss Kane obtained a trunkful of Mrs. Scott's possessions from a Washington storage company.

GINYO MARU HELPLESS OFF THE COAST OF NEW MEXICO

(By United Press)
San Francisco, Dec. 30.—A blazing inferno, with an explosion of nitrates expected momentarily, the Japanese steel twin screw steamer Ginyo Maru drifted helplessly off the coast of New Mexico early today.

Rescued by the steamer Julia Luckenbach, the passengers and crew of the liner were reported safe in wireless messages received here. The Ginyo Maru, which was from Valparaiso with passengers and freight for American Pacific ports, was heading northward up the coast last night when fire broke out.

In face of the danger of an explosion of nitrates in No. 4 hold, to which the blaze rapidly ate its way, the ship's officers decided she should be abandoned.

Passengers and crew took to lifeboats and were saved by the Julia Luckenbach.

CICERO HIGH SCHOOL BURNED, LOSS HEAVY ONE

$900,000 FIRE OCCURRED DURING THRILLING BASKETBALL GAME

PANIC BROKE LOOSE AMONG THE SPECTATORS WHEN ALARM SOUNDED

(By United Press)
Cicero, Ill., Dec. 30.—The school board and village authorities today opened an investigation into the $900,000 fire which destroyed the two buildings of Morton high school while 300 spectators at a basketball game fled to the streets in panic. At a thrilling moment in the game with the score tied and with every eye focused on the players, the school janitor stumbled onto the playing floor, knocked over two players and shouted, "Fire."

Panic broke loose in an instant. Several small boys were knocked down in the rush for exits but none was seriously hurt. Most of the players ran into the streets in their basketball togs. Only the fact that the gymnasium was on the first floor prevented injuries and possible loss of life, officials stated.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS HERE TO STAY

DECLARATION MADE BY ITS GENERAL SECRETARY SIR ERIC DRUMMOND

LEAGUE NOW COMPRISES FIFTY-FIVE DISTINCT NATIONS

(Copyrighted, 1924, by United Press)
(Copyrighted in Canada)
By HENRY WOOD
Geneva, Dec. 30.—The League of Nations is here to stay.

This is the declaration of Sir Eric Drummond, general secretary of the League of Nations, in an exclusive interview granted the United Press.

"You have asked me what are the prospects of the League for 1925," Sir Eric said. "In order to give an answer to that question I should have to be a prophet and know what are the international prospects of the world for next year, since the League now comprises 55 nations and its affairs are intimately bound up with those of its members."

"The League is firmly established as a recognized international organization, and any of these 55 states to which I have referred would declare that they could only with difficulty imagine a world in which no League of Nations existed and that the disappearance of the League would create a void which would immediately have to be filled. In a word, if it could be imagined that the present league cease to function, the nations would immediately proceed to create a fresh one."

"One sees, therefore, that it is not possible to give a satisfactory answer to the question which you have asked me without somewhat changing its phraseology. May I put it this way? What is the League program for 1925 as at present arranged?"

"Even so I can only mention the chief problems with which the League will be called upon to deal, since the technical and non-political organizations of the League (I will speak of the political side in a moment) embrace so many activities in international and economic spheres."

"I mentioned the political aspects of the League. Here it is nearly impossible to set a definite scope to League work. It lies for the members of the League to decide what, if any problems to bring before it. Should, as I hope may not be the case, there arise in 1925 quarrels between sovereign nations likely to threaten peace and disturb free relationships between peoples, the League, on appeal, will always be ready to fulfill the duties laid upon it under the covenant and endeavor to maintain peace by assuring the just and equitable solution of difficulties which may have arisen."

KID MCCOY IS CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

ATTORNEYS EXPECT TO APPEAL FROM THE JURY'S DECISION

CLAIM THE VERDICT IS NOTHING MORE THAN A COM-PROMISE

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 30.—Convicted of manslaughter for the death of Mrs. Teresa Moss, who was the latest of many loves, "Kid" McCoy (Norman Shelby) will appeal.

"This is nothing more or less than a compromise verdict," the former fighter's chief counsel said commenting upon the action of the jury which was out 78 hours and took 24 ballots before reaching a decision.

Although McCoy was tried for murder the foreman of the jury at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon announced:

"We, the jury in the case of the people versus Norman Shelby, find the defendant guilty of the charge of manslaughter, a felony."

The verdict carries a penalty of from one to ten years' imprisonment and Judge Charles S. Crail will pass sentence on Friday.

"I guess the jury did the best they could," was the judge's comment. The jurors Sunday night stood 10 to 2 for manslaughter verdict and by noon Monday they stood 11 to 1, but it was not until 15 minutes before five that they all agreed.

Minneapolis, Dec. 30.—Nine little test tubes, nested in a rack over which the midnight oil has often burned in the office of Dr. Robert C. Green, today were the worry of his life. They contain enough bacterial phage to destroy most of the disease bacteria in the world.

WOMAN MAY HAVE KILLED 4 OF FAMILY

SANITY COMMISSION TO EXAMINE MRS. EMMA HOBAUGH, 33 YEARS OF AGE

VICTIMS FOUND WITH HEADS BLOWN OFF WITH SHOTGUNS

(By United Press)
Logansport, Ind., Dec. 30.—A sanity commission was called today to examine Mrs. Emma Hobough, 33-year-old widow, held in jail here in connection with the murder of four members of her family.

Although in a state bordering on collapse, the woman refused direct answers to questions of authorities seeking to secure a confession.

Through 8 hours of grilling last night Mrs. Hobough told a story of malicious abuse and indignities suffered at the hands of members of her family, but did not make a direct admission of the crime.

"God told me to, because they were mean to me," she said when Sheriff Bowyer asked her why she "did it."

"They were mean to me after my husband died and I had to go live with them," she told the sheriff.

"They didn't buy the things my little girl needed and at Christmas they wouldn't let me get any presents or have a tree for her."

Neighbors of the accused woman told the sheriff that Mrs. Hobough had shown symptoms of insanity for months.

The bodies of the four victims were found on the farm of her father at noon yesterday. The dead were: John Basler, 67, her father. Mrs. Kate Basler, 69, her mother. John Basler, Jr., 22, her brother, and Viola Hobough, her three-year-old daughter. The heads of the four victims had been practically blown off with a shotgun.

CONFESSES MURDER, BELIEVED INSANE

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 30.—Mrs. Emma Hobough, 33, widow, has confessed murdering four members of her family at the farm home of her father eight miles north of here Sunday night, Sheriff Walter Bowyer announced this afternoon.

The confession was made while the woman was sitting in her cell and being questioned in the presence of the sheriff and a Logansport newspaper man.

"I never used a shotgun before," she told the sheriff. "I didn't know how to open or close the breach, but I did it. I wondered at the time if the neighbors heard the shots."

The sheriff did not attempt to get a detailed confession from her when she made her statement. He plans to secure a signed statement later in the day.

"They treated me mean," was Mrs. Hobough's only explanation for the act.

Coroner Stanton in his verdict today declared that the murder was committed by a paranoiac suffering with hallucinations of grandeur and persecution. He filed an affidavit charging insanity in justice of the peace court and an inquiry into the woman's mental condition was ordered for this afternoon.

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 30.—Possibility that Mr. and Mrs. Milton Holly, wealthy local residents, may have been suffocated by some deadly gas tossed into their bedroom by robbers was strengthened when detectives reported finding fragments of a small bottle on the floor.

Attention of officers was first turned to this theory when they noted a sharp, biting odor in the room where the bodies were found last night. The odor was not unlike chlorine gas, detectives said.

The gas method of robbery is being used by burglars in Calumet, Ind., authorities said recent reports had revealed. Other cities have already had robberies similarly staged.

2 RAIL SHOPMEN SERVE SENTENCES

OMAHA ROAD STRIKERS ABANDON APPEAL AGAINST 1922 CONVICTIONS

St. Paul, Dec. 30.—Striking Omaha railroad shopmen have given up their fight for freedom and gone to jail.

This was revealed today when it was discovered that William Bersang and Mike Thielen, two Omaha boiler-makers, are serving 45 day sentences each in the Ramsey county jail for violating the injunction issued against striking railroad shopmen two years ago last July.

At that time shopmen went on strike in all the railroad yards in St. Paul. They put on pickets to obstruct others hired by the railroads to take their places.

Injunction proceedings were started in federal district court before Judge W. F. Booth. He issued an order prescribing the nature of picketing that could be carried on, and giving other instructions in this respect.

Soon after while riding in an automobile on W. 7th st., Mr. Bersang and Mr. Thielen saw a strikebreaker and called him a scab. Their arrest followed on a charge of violating the injunction.

They were sentenced to 45 days each in jail. An appeal was taken, which has been pending since, but on account of the expense it has been dropped. The two men voluntarily came into court and said they were ready to begin serving their sentences.

REV. P. R. HOOS, MINNEAPOLIS, TO DIRECT SAME

PROTESTANT CHURCHES HOSPITAL ASS'N. NOW CONDUCTING HOSPITAL

IS ANXIOUS TO RAISE MONEY ENOUGH TO PURCHASE FROM RECEIVER

Rev. P. R. Hoos, of Minneapolis, has been secured by the Protestant Churches Hospital Association of Brainerd to assist in the campaign to secure funds for the purchase of the Northwestern hospital. Mr. Hoos has just concluded a successful campaign for Hamline university in which $1,400,000 was raised for the school.

The hospital was owned by the Northwestern Medical and Surgical Association, which built the new, modern, fire-proof, fifty-two bed addition. They were unable to raise the money to finance the new building. On April 26, 1924, the association went into the hands of a receiver. They lost the hospital.

An association of the churches, with an executive committee, has been operating the hospital under the direction of the receiver since the middle of July. This association is now incorporated under the name of the Protestant Churches Hospital Association. They stand ready to purchase the hospital from the receiver and a campaign will immediately be put on to raise the money for that purpose. This seems to be the most satisfactory solution of the problem of the Northwestern Hospital. It will retain this splendid hospital as an asset to the City of Brainerd and will place in the hands of the organization which will be the most satisfactory to the large constituency tributary to this section.

Northwestern Hospital is already built, complete and equipped. It cares for hundreds of patients every year. It is an excellent hospital, equipped with X-Ray, laboratory, operating room, dressing room, special maternity equipment. It has a nurses' training school under splendid leadership. An excellent staff of nurses, supported by the fine equipment, makes Northwestern a delightful place in which to get well.

Under the most adverse circumstances Northwestern has paid running expenses. With favorable conditions it cannot but be successful. Northwestern is now operated as an open hospital. Any reputable physician may come and treat his patients and receive the same courtesies and service as the physicians of the regular staff.

The Northwestern Hospital Health Service Society, composed of friends of the hospital, cares for many who are worthy and needy, and operates a free clinic at the hospital on Wednesdays from four to five o'clock.

To raise the money to buy the hospital will not be easy but if all the friends of the institution work together it can be done. It will be done. All who contribute to the hospital will be given a 25 per cent hospital credit service.

Mr. Hoos has just concluded a successful campaign for Hamline university in which $1,400,000 was raised for the school.

The hospital was owned by the Northwestern Medical and Surgical Association, which built the new, modern, fire-proof, fifty-two bed addition. They were unable to raise the money to finance the new building. On April 26, 1924, the association went into the hands of a receiver. They lost the hospital.

An association of the churches, with an executive committee, has been operating the hospital under the direction of the receiver since the middle of July. This association is now incorporated under the name of the Protestant Churches Hospital Association. They stand ready to purchase the hospital from the receiver and a campaign will immediately be put on to raise the money for that purpose. This seems to be the most satisfactory solution of the problem of the Northwestern Hospital. It will retain this splendid hospital as an asset to the City of Brainerd and will place in the hands of the organization which will be the most satisfactory to the large constituency tributary to this section.

Northwestern Hospital is already built, complete and equipped. It cares for hundreds of patients every year. It is an excellent hospital, equipped with X-Ray, laboratory, operating room, dressing room, special maternity equipment. It has a nurses' training school under splendid leadership. An excellent staff of nurses, supported by the fine equipment, makes Northwestern a delightful place in which to get well.

Under the most adverse circumstances Northwestern has paid running expenses. With favorable conditions it cannot but be successful. Northwestern is now operated as an open hospital. Any reputable physician may come and treat his patients and receive the same courtesies and service as the physicians of the regular staff.

The Northwestern Hospital Health Service Society, composed of friends of the hospital, cares for many who are worthy and needy, and operates a free clinic at the hospital on Wednesdays from four to five o'clock.

To raise the money to buy the hospital will not be easy but if all the friends of the institution work together it can be done. It will be done. All who contribute to the hospital will be given a 25 per cent hospital credit service.

GAS METHOD USED, ROBBERS KILL 2 PEOPLE

WEALTHY HOLLYWOOD RESIDENTS ROBBED AND THOUGHT SUFFOCATED BY GAS

FRAGMENTS OF BOTTLE ON THE FLOOR, PUNGENT ODOR IN ROOM

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 30.—Possibility that Mr. and Mrs. Milton Holly, wealthy local residents, may have been suffocated by some deadly gas tossed into their bedroom by robbers was strengthened when detectives reported finding fragments of a small bottle on the floor.

Attention of officers was first turned to this theory when they noted a sharp, biting odor in the room where the bodies were found last night. The odor was not unlike chlorine gas, detectives said.

The gas method of robbery is being used by burglars in Calumet, Ind., authorities said recent reports had revealed. Other cities have already had robberies similarly staged.

2 RAIL SHOPMEN SERVE SENTENCES

OMAHA ROAD STRIKERS ABANDON APPEAL AGAINST 1922 CONVICTIONS

St. Paul, Dec. 30.—Striking Omaha railroad shopmen have given up their fight for freedom and gone to jail.

This was revealed today when it was discovered that William Bersang and Mike Thielen, two Omaha boiler-makers, are serving 45 day sentences each in the Ramsey county jail for violating the injunction issued against striking railroad shopmen two years ago last July.

At that time shopmen went on strike in all the railroad yards in St. Paul. They put on pickets to obstruct others hired by the railroads to take their places.

Injunction proceedings were started in federal district court before Judge W. F. Booth. He issued an order prescribing the nature of picketing that could be carried on, and giving other instructions in this respect.

Soon after while riding in an automobile on W. 7th st., Mr. Bersang and Mr. Thielen saw a strikebreaker and called him a scab. Their arrest followed on a charge of violating the injunction.

They were sentenced to 45 days each in jail. An appeal was taken, which has been pending since, but on account of the expense it has been dropped. The two men voluntarily came into court and said they were ready to begin serving their sentences.

MISS PEGGY FINCH FUNERAL

"Java Herald" Publishes Obituary of Girl and Pays Tribute to Her Many Lovable Qualities

The "Java Herald" contains the following obituary of a young lady who formerly lived in Java:

Word was received here the forepart of the week that Gretta Finch or "Peggy" as she was known by almost everyone, had passed to eternal sleep on Saturday evening, December 13, at her home in Brainerd, Minn., after an illness of over a year. Miss Finch was one of the victims of the fatal shooting that occurred here on April 28, 1923, in which she and her girl chum were shot by a former police of the city. For several weeks following her injury, her life was despaired of but she began to pick up and get stronger. About a year ago the Finch family moved to Brainerd, Minn., and every hope was expressed for the young lady's recovery until complications set in about three weeks ago.

Physicians were never able to remove the bullet as the girl was unable to undergo an operation and it was deemed advisable to let the leaden missile remain until such time that she was able to have it removed. About three weeks ago the bullet began to bother and the girl, suffering considerable pain, sank steadily until death relieved her from her sufferings last Saturday.

Gretta Finch will always be remembered by her friends in this city. Always an active girl she soon won her way into the hearts of many here who will learn with regret her departure although death was really a relief from what might have been a lifetime of suffering. During her residence here she was associated with the Co-operative Creamery and later opened a cream station of her own. She was also associated with numerous social activities of the younger set as well as member of the Presbyterian church choir and orchestra.

Funeral services were held last Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the home in Brainerd. Interment was made in a cemetery in that city.

JUNIOR CHOIR CANTATA

Bethlehem Lutheran Church Organization to Present "On to Bethlehem"

The junior choir of the Bethlehem Lutheran church will give its cantata, "On to Bethlehem" at 7:30 o'clock on Sunday evening.

This cantata was given on last Friday evening, and was so much appreciated, that there were many requests to have it repeated.

The choir will meet for rehearsal on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the usual place.

Shapely Ankles Return With Smart Kid Boots

NO more will milady be seen on the winter street in slippers cut down to the sole, and cobweb hose! Her ankles, if she is truly smart, are now to be encased for the winter and spring in high topped kid shoes, for this is the flair which has apparently intoxicated the leading shoe designers of Paris.

After an absence of five years, trim snugly fitting high shoes that look so much like silky spats and accentuate the shapely ankle are once more making their appearance in the Paris shops and on the boulevards. This would seem to confirm the American vogue for kid footwear by leading it to new heights. The model shown above seems particularly popular with the better dressed set. The tops are of silky gray kid and the vamp and heel of black patent kid leather. The new French lacing goes up the inside, giving the ankle a trim shapeliness and support, correcting the tendency toward awkward ankles caused by the continual wearing of low shoes. The same style was seen and admired on the boulevards in a combination of tan and black kid and in all tan, worn with a black costume. Some demand is already felt in New York, but only in the more exclusive shops. The vogue seems to be starting as bobbled hair did—among the "four hundred," and its rapid spread is predicted.

AN APPRECIATION

The Brainerd Lions Club wishes to take this opportunity to express its appreciation to all who so heartily cooperated in making possible the Christmas program, which the club sponsored this season.

Especially are the Lions grateful to W. H. Gemmiell, who so generously furnished the community tree, to the Y. M. C. A., for permitting the erection of the tree upon its grounds, to the Water and Light Board, for lighting the tree, to Miss Eula Michael, city and school nurse, and the Campfire Girls, who collected and repaired toys and furnished names of children to whom these toys were given.

The Lions club feels that it was only through this cooperation that the community Christmas was so successful, and it is hoped that the program can be repeated next year on an even larger scale.

Sympathy Awakened

She was delighted with the handsome new fur coat he had given her. For half an hour she stood before the long mirror admiring herself in it. Suddenly she burst into tears. "Why, what's the matter, darling?" exclaimed her husband. "Oh, I was just thinking how cold the poor little squirrels will be this winter without their nice warm fur," she wept.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"BRAINERD NIGHT" ON WCCO

THE Chamber of Commerce last night gave "Brainerd Night" its moral support, according to plans formulated by WCCO, Gold Medal radio station of the Washburn Crosby Co. and Twin Cities business interests.

Brainerd talent, musical especially, will perform for the glory of Brainerd. In this regard, it is interesting to note the letter just received from E. S. Harrison, Assistant Manager of WCCO, who states that the staff of the Gold Medal Station has been turning over in its mind the thought of a Brainerd program ever since early December.

"We have looked through our program and the program of the Cincinnati stations and find that we can very nicely give you a period from seven-thirty to nine o'clock on the evening of January 30 to broadcast a Brainerd program. Cincinnati will be silent during this time and we know that it is your desire to reach that part of the country on this evening.

"We know that it is your intention to put on the best program that can possibly be put together by the good citizens of Brainerd. It is our aim to assist you in every possible way in making this program a big event. We will give it all the publicity that we possibly can from here, and feel sure that you will do the same. In order to give it publicity, we should have a definite program at as early a date as possible to that we can get it out and be sure that it will be printed in the papers.

"We suggest that this program be made up of musical numbers and one or two talks, not more than ten minutes each, by representative citizens of Brainerd.

"Will you be kind enough to advise us at the earliest possible date whether or not January 30 is acceptable to you, and if so, submit to us as soon as you can the program you intend to broadcast.

"With kindest regards and looking forward to meeting these good people from Brainerd, we are, Very truly yours, E. S. Harrison, Assistant Manager, Gold Medal Station WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul."

One of the first Chamber of Commerce names suggested is that of A. C. Mraz, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Brainerd. Mr. Mraz has a splendid baritone which will lend itself well to broadcasting.

FIRST WHITE CHILD BORN IN BRAINERD

A NEWS dispatch from Helena, Montana, records the death of Mrs. Mary E. Straub, who is said to have been the first white child born in Brainerd, the date of her birth being April 18, 1872.

She went to Montana several years ago. Her husband and two daughters survive. Inquiring locally, John Hughes says he remembers the family very well. Col. C. D. Johnson said Mrs. Straub was a daughter of Henry Dessen and recalls that she visited Brainerd last summer.

The Dispatch building, it may be noted, was bought from the Denssens.

SOME United States senators seem to think that newspapers ought to pay postage as a punishment for asking fair pay for postal employees, says the Little Falls Daily Transcript. We would like to refer these gentlemen to the mass of cheap third class matter that is continually clogging the mails. Certain kinds of third class and the cheap magazines, circulated for advertising revenue only, should pay the larger proportion of the increase.

THE Oriental mind operates in a canny way. Mutinous Chinese soldiers who had looted stores in Kalgan, were promised their back pay, loaded into cars and sent home. They were run on a siding and regular troops ordered out, who shot down the mutineers herded in the box cars. Thus, very cheaply, the mutiny and the payroll were settled.

VICENTE BLASCO IBENEZ who unleashed his Four Horsemen in literature, has now gone after bigger game and is firing literary broadsides at the King of Spain. He has enough documents on hand, he says, to write two more books attacking the king.

A FURNACE has its limits, just as a steam boiler. Firing a furnace until it fires the house may be a laudable ambition to increase the temperature in the neighborhood, but it's hard on the house.

WHEN the stork is about to visit high society like the Longworths, every flap of his wings is recorded. When he is about to call on ordinary people, only the ladies aid knows about it.

BANDITS, not content with shooting up towns, blowing open safes, robbing the savings of many people, are now reported setting fire to Texas towns to cover up their work.

READING some of those "beauty" queries, one finds girls are more concerned about their weights and figures, than washing dishes for mother.

THE budget committee of France seems to have been kind of careless in forgetting to list its war debt of four billions due Uncle Sam.

THE DISPATCH has received several unsigned communications on local topics and cannot print the same because no names are appended.

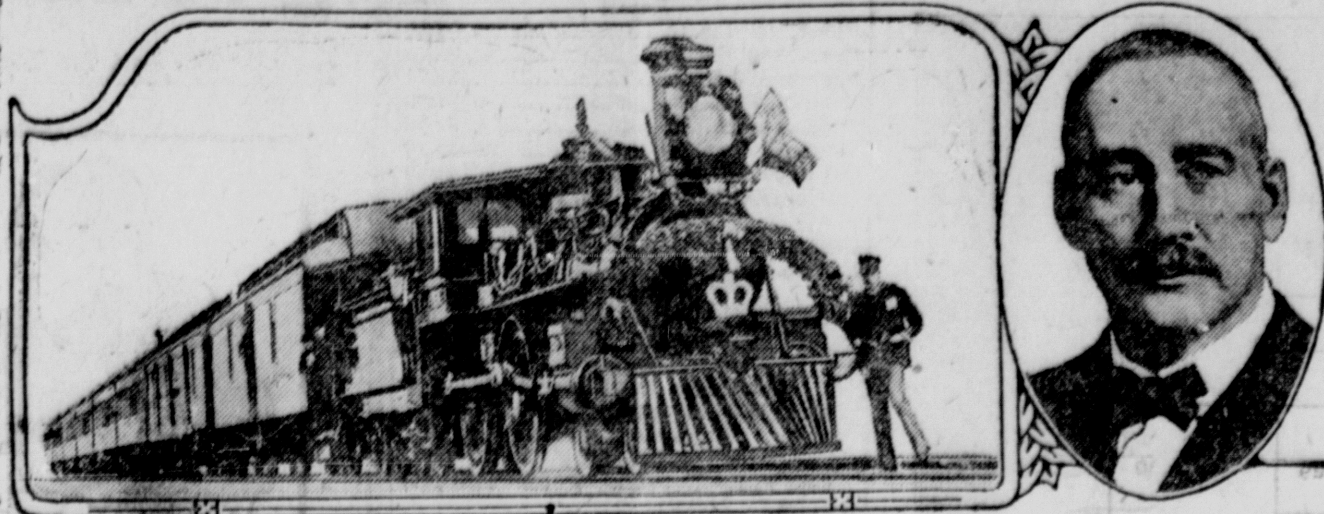

FROM 40 above to 20 below in 24 hours, is a sample of Minnesota's versatility, says Alvah Eastman, as he put on his earmuffs.

EVERY time we boost Minnesota climate, the thermometer takes a hop down the tube.

EVERYBODY is getting set for the wave of prosperity due to immerse us in 1925.

A RUDE jury has interrupted the sequence of "Kid" McCoy's heart affairs.

For New Year's Inspiration

For New Year's inspiration, a look into the record of John M. Rapelje, vice president in charge of operations, Northern Pacific railway, is interesting. As head of the operating department, Mr. Rapelje has 25,000 men working for him and with him in running the trains of a 6,700 mile railroad. He began railroading forty-five years ago as a brakeman and has held practically every job in the operating department, both as employee and as official. His explanation of the hesitancy with which he accepted promotions, "I always felt that I ought to learn my old job better," is becoming a proverb on the system.

The picture shows the first through train from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast at Fort William, Ont., June 30, 1886, on the Canadian Pacific. The conductor standing in front of the engine pilot is the same John Rapelje. E. E. Lillie, at that time a messenger boy and riding on the same train, now is superintendent of transportation of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railway at Portland, Ore.

IDLENESS FAILS TO DISMAY THE
BRITISH NATIONFACES NEW YEAR WITH LONG-AWAITED POSTWAR TRADE
REVIVALWIPES OUT HER ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED PEOPLE

By CLIFFORD L. DAY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyrighted, 1924, by United Press)
London, Dec. 30.—Great Britain faces the new year hopeful that 1925 will bring the long-awaited postwar trade revival, wiping out her army of unemployed.

Emerging today from one of the most crucial years in the long history of British social and constitutional progress, the nation is more stabilized than at any other time since the war.

The year 1924 will be indelibly inscribed in British annals because it marked the advent, and the exit—of the first Labor government ever entrusted with the administration of the Empire.

After nine months of experiment in Labor rule, the country at a general election swung back to conservatism more strongly than it had ever done before.

The Tories were returned to power with the biggest parliamentary majority they have had since 1900 and the safest majority of any postwar British administration.

Foreign relations are steadily improving and empire unity is on the mend. Trade is reflecting the general European recuperation effected by the Dawes plan and smoke is blowing the cobwebs from many factory stacks which had been idle for years. It is believed that the first symptoms of a real boom have appeared, a movement thoroughly sound and general as compared with the isolated artificial spurts hitherto securing since the armistice.

The year ends virtually where it started as far as unemployment and housing are concerned. In November there were still over 1,200,000 unemployed, only some 73,000 less than on the last day of 1923. Meanwhile the cost of living had mounted from 76 per cent above prewar conditions in June to 80 in November. Food alone had increased by six per cent over the previous year's November prices.

Reflecting a seriously adverse trade balance, imports, exceeded exports by 123 per cent for October and by 60 per cent for the first ten months of the year.

As 1924 closes, however, there are distinct signs of an improvement in the business and industrial world, where depression has prevailed throughout the past twelve months and most of the past ten years. The owners of eighty-six per cent of the spindles in mills using American cotton increased the weekly hours of work from thirty-two to thirty-nine on December 1, and it was expected the cotton industry would be working full-time, or forty-eight hours a week, at the beginning of the new year. Other industries report a similarly healthy outlook.

One great stimulus to trade is likely to come from the determination of the administration to put into effect a scheme adopted last year of granting preference to imports from imperial possessions. It is probable that empire trade will also be considerably enhanced as a result of the gigantic 220-acre exhibition held at Wembley throughout the summer and fall, at which traders from all parts of the empire exhibited goods.

It was recently decided to hold the exhibition again in 1925. Natural products as well as manufactured goods from all portions of the empire are exhibited at these British "world's fairs," which started this year after more than a year of preparation and the first of which attracted millions of visitors from all parts of the globe.

Not only economically but politically as well, the empire promises to become more solidified under the new administration because imperialism has never before been so strongly entrenched in Whitehall. Unrest has prevailed in various isolated parts of the vast realm during 1924, yet no crisis developed which proved insurmountable.

The Home Rule campaign in India became more violent and blocked the constitutional reforms in some districts, but the movement stands about where it did a year ago.

Ireland passed probably the most peaceful year in its history.

The League of Nations was successfully summoned to avert further Anglo-Turk difficulties, after the Turks forcibly contested the extent of Britain's mandate in Mosul and serious bloodshed appeared imminent.

Toward the end of the year, the English commander-in-chief of the Egyptian army was assassinated in Cairo as the climax to a long list of murdered Englishmen. Britain summarily imposed a fine of a half-million sterling, ousted Egypt from the Sudan, and took other punitive measures. The situation was eased by the immediate accession to power of a more moderate Egyptian government.

Britain's relations with foreign powers in the Western Hemisphere during 1924 were marred only by a complete breach with Mexico following the murder of a British woman and the withdrawal of the British semi-diplomatic representative at Mexico City. There were indications toward the end of the year that the long period of Mexico's non-recognition might soon be ended.

Altogether, in foreign as well as imperial and purely United Kingdom affairs, it appears that 1925 will witness more definite policies on the part of Great Britain than hitherto since the war.

BRAZIL STATE'S FINE HIGHWAYSCOMES AS RESULT OF POLICY OF
DR. WASHINGTON
LUIZ

(By United Press)
Sao Paulo, Brazil, Dec. 30.—As a result of the policy adopted by Dr. Washington Luiz, popularly known as the Yankee of Brazil, during the years of his administration of the affairs of the State of Sao Paulo as its governor, the State plunged ahead of all other units of the Brazilian federation in the good roads movement, and today the great coffee plantations throughout the State are well served with excellent roads over which coffee is transported from the plantations to the markets and ports of embarkation.

Good roads' maps just published by the State government show that there remains hardly a town or village of the state which cannot be reached from the City of Sao Paulo by automobile over fine highways.

Plans are now underway for construction of a highway from the City of Sao Paulo to Ponto Tibirica, the westernmost town of the State, which when completed will permit of automobile traffic across the entire state, a distance of several hundred miles.

"BRAINERD NIGHT" ON WCCO

THE Chamber of Commerce last night gave "Brainerd Night" its moral support, according to plans formulated by WCCO, Gold Medal radio station of the Washburn Crosby Co. and Twin Cities business interests.

Brainerd talent, musical especially, will perform for the glory of Brainerd. In this regard, it is interesting to note the letter just received from E. S. Harrison, Assistant Manager of WCCO, who states that the staff of the Gold Medal Station has been turning over in its mind the thought of a Brainerd program ever since early December.

"We have looked through our program and the program of the Cincinnati stations and find that we can very nicely give you a period from seven-thirty to nine o'clock on the evening of January 30 to broadcast a Brainerd program. Cincinnati will be silent during this time and we know that it is your desire to reach that part of the country on this evening.

"We know that it is your intention to put on the best program that can possibly be put together by the good citizens of Brainerd. It is our aim to assist you in every possible way in making this program a big event. We will give it all the publicity that we possibly can from here, and feel sure that you will do the same. In order to give it publicity, we should have a definite program at as early a date as possible to that we can get it out and be sure that it will be printed in the papers.

"We suggest that this program be made up of musical numbers and one or two talks, not more than ten minutes each, by representative citizens of Brainerd.

"Will you be kind enough to advise us at the earliest possible date whether or not January 30 is acceptable to you, and if so, submit to us as soon as you can the program you intend to broadcast.

"With kindest regards and looking forward to meeting these good people from Brainerd, we are, Very truly yours, E. S. Harrison, Assistant Manager, Gold Medal Station WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul."

One of the first Chamber of Commerce names suggested is that of A. C. Mraz, assistant cashier of the First National bank of Brainerd. Mr. Mraz has a splendid baritone which will lend itself well to broadcasting.

FIRST WHITE CHILD BORN IN BRAINERD

A NEWS dispatch from Helena, Montana, records the death of Mrs. Mary E. Straub, who is said to have been the first white child born in Brainerd, the date of her birth being April 18, 1872.

She went to Montana several years ago. Her husband and two daughters survive. Inquiring locally, John Hughes says he remembers the family very well. Col. C. D. Johnson said Mrs. Straub was a daughter of Henry Dessen and recalls that she visited Brainerd last summer.

The Dispatch building, it may be noted, was bought from the Dessens.

SOME United States senators seem to think that newspapers ought to pay postage as a punishment for asking fair pay for postal employees, says the Little Falls Daily Transcript. We would like to refer these gentlemen to the mass of cheap third class matter that is continually clogging the mails. Certain kinds of third class and the cheap magazines, circulated for advertising revenue only, should pay the larger proportion of the increase.

THE Oriental mind operates in a canny way. Mutinous Chinese soldiers who had looted stores in Kalgan, were promised their back pay, loaded into cars and sent home. They were run on a siding and regular troops ordered out, who shot down the mutineers herded in the box cars. Thus, very cheaply, the mutiny and the payroll were settled.

VICENTE BLASCO IBENEZ who unleashed his Four Horsemen in literature, has now gone after bigger game and is firing literary broadsides at the King of Spain. He has enough documents on hand, he says, to write two more books attacking the king.

A FURNACE has its limits, just as a steam boiler. Firing a furnace until it fires the house may be a laudable ambition to increase the temperature in the neighborhood, but it's hard on the house.

WHEN the stork is about to visit high society like the Longworths, every flap of his wings is recorded. When he is about to call on ordinary people, only the ladies aid knows about it.

BANDITS, not content with shooting up towns, blowing open safes, robbing the savings of many people, are now reported setting fire to Texas towns to cover up their work.

READING some of those "beauty" queries, one finds girls are more concerned about their weights and figures, than washing dishes for mother.

THE budget committee of France seems to have been kind of careless in forgetting to list its war debt of four billions due Uncle Sam.

THE DISPATCH has received several unsigned communications on local topics and cannot print the same because no names are appended.

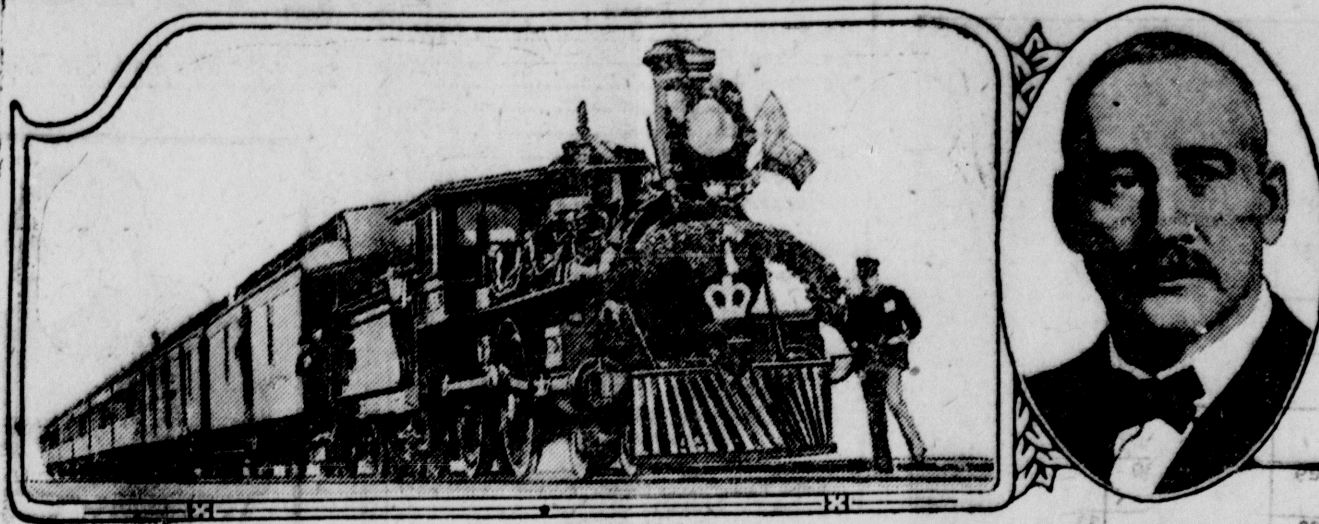

FROM 40 above to 20 below in 24 hours, is a sample of Minnesota's versatility, says Alvah Eastman, as he put on his earmuffs.

EVERY time we boost Minnesota climate, the thermometer takes a hop down the tube.

EVERYBODY is getting set for the wave of prosperity due to immerse us in 1925.

A RUDE jury has interrupted the sequence of "Kid" McCoy's heart affairs.

For New Year's Inspiration

For New Year's inspiration, a look into the record of John M. Rapelje, vice president in charge of operation, Northern Pacific railway, is interesting. As head of the operating department, Mr. Rapelje has 25,000 men working for him and with him in running the trains of a 6,700 mile railroad. He began railroading forty-five years ago as a brakeman and has held practically every job in the operating department, both as employee and as official. His explanation of the hesitancy with which he accepted promotions, "I always felt that I ought to learn my old job better," is becoming a proverb on the system.

The picture shows the first through train from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast at Fort William, Ont., June 30, 1886, on the Canadian Pacific. The conductor standing in front of the engine pilot is the same John Rapelje. E. E. LEAGUE OF NATIONS SHOWS ADDED STRENGTH

GENEVA CORRESPONDENT SAYS ADOPTION OF DAWES PLAN

MADE WORLD ORGANIZATION A NEW POWER IN EUROPE

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Geneva, Dec. 30.—The year 1924 will pass down in the history of the League of Nations as marking the definite turning point in the development and growth of that institution.

From an experimental organization, the league, after a five years' test in which it was entrusted only with handling what might be termed minor international questions, has, during the past year, thrown off its swaddling clothes and begun the handling of the most vital international problems and questions.

This change, according to Leaguers, has not come about so much from within the League itself, as from the attitude of the nations composing the League.

The League can only be what the governments forming it choose to make it.

If, up until the past year, the League did not have a chance of trying its hand at the settlement of the big major problems in international life, it was only because the nations in the League took their business somewhere else, or endeavored to settle their problems alone.

Throughout the past year, however, there has been a marked tendency on the part of the great powers to bring, as they are pledged to do under the covenant, their big international questions to the League for settlement.

This tendency culminated in the visit to Geneva by Herriot and MacDonald and the entrusting to the League of the whole problem of arbitration, security and disarmament. Credit for the consolidation thus given to the League's position is, according to Leaguers, due perhaps more to the change in the French attitude towards the League than to that of the English.

England has always been the first nation in bringing its problems to the League for settlement. As a consequence increased support of the League by England was only a continuation of its already established policy. England's dispute with Egypt has been informally submitted to the League.

But the decision of France to throw the whole question of its national security which is conceded to be the most important problem in European affairs today, onto the League for settlement changed definitely, the position of the League in international affairs.

That France intends to continue this policy, and intends to count on the League not only for its national security, but for the future settlement of other equally as important questions, has also been definitely intimated. During the September assembly, Briand and other members of the French delegation proclaimed from the tribune of Geneva that in the future the League will be called upon to settle the great financial, economic, and social problems which are already beginning to assert themselves as the great points of divergence in international affairs.

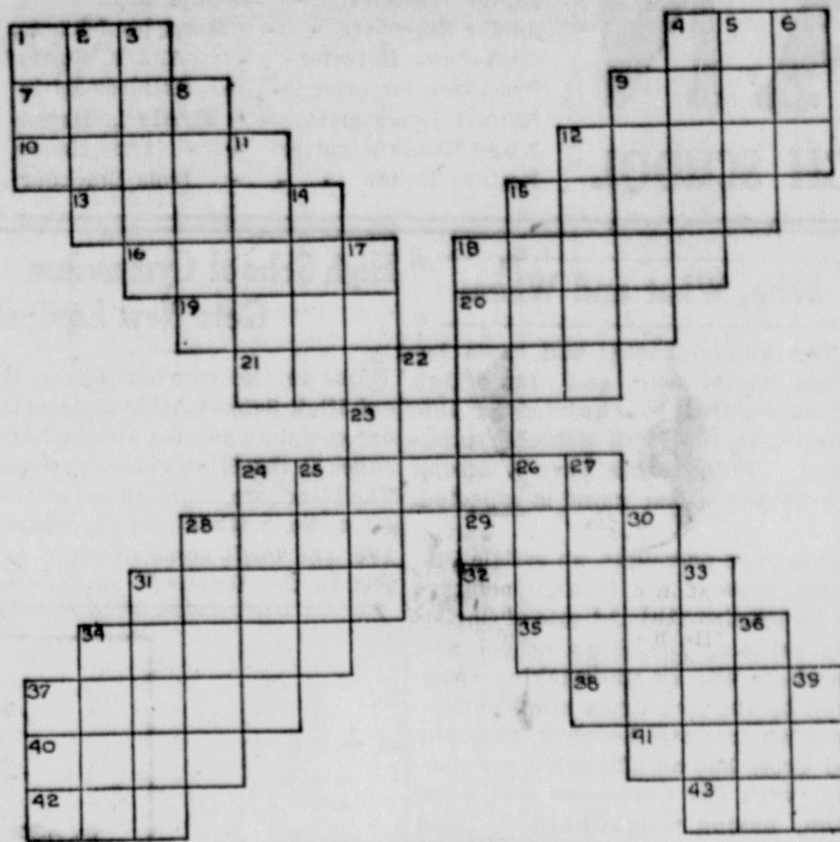

Just as the League had been called upon to prepare a basis for national security for all nations, she will be called on, they declared, to establish a basis for peace of economic, financial and social security, for the entire world.

Enforced Arbitration

In developing and launching the past year, the principle of enforced obligatory arbitration as a means of settling all international disputes, instead of by wars in the past, the League feels that it has established the basis for an entirely new epoch in the world's history, and an epoch in which the League will play a leading part. While it is conceded that years may elapse before the entire world can be brought over to abolishing war entirely and accepting the principle of obligatory arbitration, Leaguers are convinced that this principle has been definitely proclaimed for all time to come, and that through the League, it will eventually work the greatest change that has ever been accomplished in the history of the relations of nations.

Even before France and England came to Geneva in September, however, with the predominating European question of national security, the early part of the year had already registered a marked tendency on the part of the big powers to begin at last to entrust their greatest international

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

problems to the League for settlement.

This change in attitude, or rather of habit, is attributed to two causes, first the fact that the League itself had gradually come to establish confidence and it was an organism that could be counted on not only for impartiality but for respect of sovereign rights; and, secondly, the settlement of the reparations problem.

With the question of reparations the dominating international problem ever since the close of the war, and with the French refusing to allow this problem to come before the League for settlement, the latter was obliged virtually to stand aside and take second place until the problem of reparations was out of the way. With the settlement under the Dawes plan, however, there has ever since been a more marked tendency on the part of the great powers to let the League play the role assigned to it in the peace treaties and the covenant, as the one international organism for the settlement of disputes between nations.

Military Control Assumed

Of the great problems that have since been entrusted to the League as a result of this change in the attitude of the great powers, the most important one, after that of security, is the taking over by the League of the military control of Germany, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria.

While this was specifically provided for in the peace treaties, nevertheless it was precisely the unwillingness of the allies to entrust this problem to the League that resulted in their keeping it in their own control up until the present time.

The Allies, however, have already authorized the League to prepare the machinery for taking over this task and the transfer with probably take place early in 1925. With this task finally in the hands of the League it will possess one of the greatest powers possible for ensuring the peace of Europe, as it will be able to guard against any possible warlike preparations on the part of the ex-enemy states.

The entrusting to the League of the final settlement of the Mosul dispute between England and Turkey is another one of the major problems that has come to the League during the past year and which has demonstrated the tendency of the big powers to let the League play its real role.

"International Goat"

Incidentally Leaguers recognize also that the League is a very handy concern for the big powers in such disputes. In cases like the Mosul dispute for the example, where each one of the contending governments has taken such a pronounced position that

CONRAD NAGEL AND ELEANOR BOARDMAN IN "SO THIS IS MARRIAGE"

A Photoplay You Should Not Miss
Now and then comes along one of those films of which it seems reasonable to say to everyone, "You can't afford to miss it." And that is most certainly the case with the Hobart Henley production "So This Is Marriage," which is showing at the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Wednesday.

This picture, from the original story by Carey Wilson, is an ultra-modern one, dealing with the marital difficulties of Peter Marsh (Conrad Nagel) and Beth Marsh (Eleanor Boardman) and the influence of a bachelor student of books—and women—Daniel Rankin (Lew Cody).

The young wife is gay and frivolous. When Peter mildly protests against her extravagance, she retorts: "Why don't you earn more money; other men do?"

She finds comfort in the companionship of Rankin, and runs to his home for comfort when her husband has treated her roughly after hastily taking her from a restaurant where, after many previous experiences of the sort, he has heard her criticized for her extreme manner of dress, and her irresponsible ways. Finding that Beth really loves her husband, Rankin shows her the error of her ways by reading to her from the Bible the story of David and Bath-Sheba.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS SHOWS ADDED STRENGTH

GENEVA CORRESPONDENT SAYS ADOPTION OF DAWES PLAN

MADE WORLD ORGANIZATION A NEW POWER IN EUROPE

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Geneva, Dec. 30.—The year 1924 will pass down in the history of the League of Nations as marking the definite turning point in the development and growth of that institution.

From an experimental organization, the league, after a five years' test in which it was entrusted only with handling what might be termed minor international questions, has, during the past year, thrown off its swaddling clothes and begun the handling of the most vital international problems and questions.

This change, according to Leaguers, has not come about so much from within the League itself, as from the attitude of the nations composing the League.

The League can only be what the governments forming it choose to make it.

If, up until the past year, the League did not have a chance of trying its hand at the settlement of the big major problems in international life, it was only because the nations in the League took their business somewhere else, or endeavored to settle their problems alone.

Throughout the past year, however, there has been a marked tendency on the part of the great powers to bring, as they are pledged to do under the covenant, their big international questions to the League for settlement.

This tendency culminated in the visit to Geneva by Herriot and MacDonald and the entrusting to the League of the whole problem of arbitration, security and disarmament. Credit for the consolidation thus given to the League's position is, according to Leaguers, due perhaps more to the change in the French attitude towards the League than to that of the English.

England has always been the first nation in bringing its problems to the League for settlement. As a consequence increased support of the League by England was only a continuation of its already established policy. England's dispute with Egypt has been informally submitted to the League.

But the decision of France to throw the whole question of its national security which is conceded to be the most important problem in European affairs today, onto the League for settlement changed definitely, the position of the League in international affairs.

That France intends to continue this policy, and intends to count on the League not only for its national security, but for the future settlement of other equally as important questions, has also been definitely intimated. During the September assembly, Briand and other members of the French delegation proclaimed from the tribune of Geneva that in the future the League will be called upon to settle the great financial, economic, and social problems which are already beginning to assert themselves as the great points of divergence in international affairs.

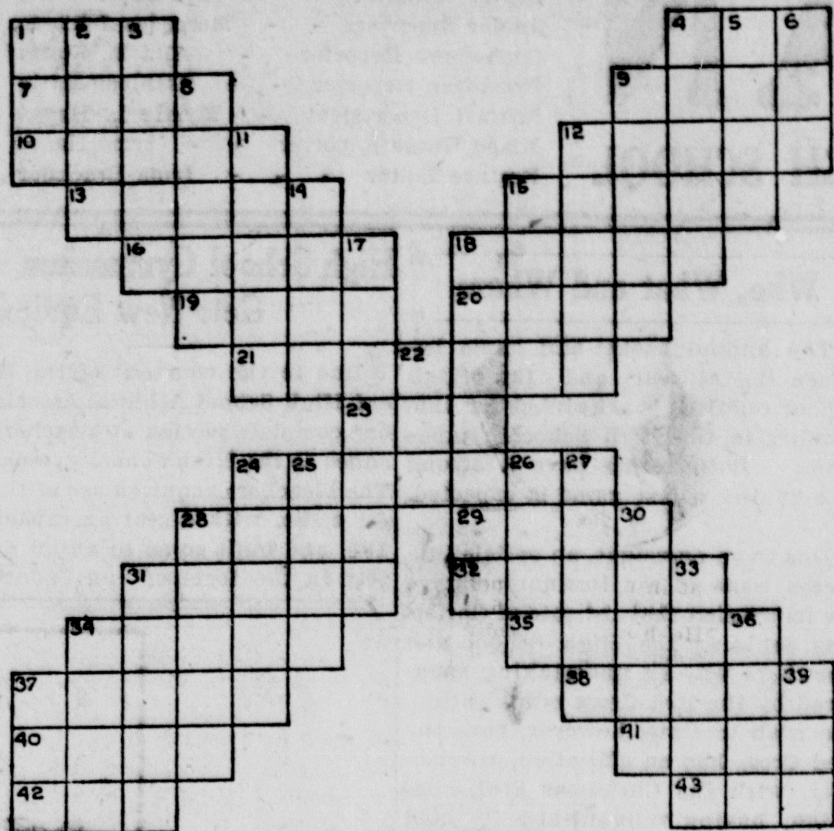

Just as the League had been called upon to prepare a basis for national security for all nations, she will be called on, they declared, to establish a basis for pacts of economic, financial and social security, for the entire world.

Enforced Arbitration

In developing and launching the past year, the principle of enforced obligatory arbitration as a means of settling all international disputes, instead of by wars in the past, the League feels that it has established the basis for an entirely new epoch in the world's history, and an epoch in which the League will play a leading part. While it is conceded that years may elapse before the entire world can be brought over to abolishing war entirely and accepting the principle of obligatory arbitration, Leaguers are convinced that this principle has been definitely proclaimed for all time to come, and that through the League, it will eventually work the greatest change that has ever been accomplished in the history of the relations of nations.

Even before France and England came to Geneva in September, however, with the predominating European question of national security, the early part of the year had already registered a marked tendency on the part of the big powers to begin at last to entrust their greatest international

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will fill words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

problems to the League for settlement.

This change in attitude, or rather of habit, is attributed to two causes, first the fact that the League itself had gradually come to establish confidence and it was an organism that could be counted on not only for impartiality but for respect of sovereign rights; and, secondly, the settlement of the reparations problem.

With the question of reparations the dominating international problem ever since the close of the war, and with the French refusing to allow this problem to come before the League for settlement, the latter was obliged virtually to stand aside and take second place until the problem of reparations was out of the way. With the settlement under the Dawes plan, however, there has ever since been a more marked tendency on the part of the great powers to let the League play the role assigned to it in the peace treaties and the covenant, as the one international organism for the settlement of disputes between nations.

Military Control Assumed

Of the great problems that have since been entrusted to the League as a result of this change in the attitude of the great powers, the most important one, after that of security, is the taking over by the League of the military control of Germany, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria.

While this was specifically provided for in the peace treaties, nevertheless it was precisely the unwillingness of the allies to entrust this problem to the League that resulted in their keeping it in their own control up until the present time.

The Allies, however, have already authorized the League to prepare the machinery, for taking over this task and the transfer with probably take place early in 1925. With this task finally in the hands of the League it will possess one of the greatest powers possible for ensuring the peace of Europe, as it will be able to guard against any possible warlike preparations on the part of the ex-enemy states.

The entrusting to the League of the final settlement of the Mosul dispute between England and Turkey is another one of the major problems that has come to the League during the past year and which has demonstrated the tendency of the big powers to let the League play its real role.

"International Goat"

Incidentally Leaguers recognize also that the League is a very handy concern for the big powers in such disputes. In cases like the Mosul dispute for the example, where each one of the contending governments has taken such a pronounced position that it could not possibly give in without provoking most serious opposition at home, it is very convenient to be able to make the League the goat and to tell the dissatisfied elements that it was the League which made the decision and that they were obliged to accept the result. However, the League recognizes that amongst its other roles that of a sort of "international goat" is not the least important.

The League the past year has also definitely launched the great ideal, towards which nations have been groping for years past, namely that of the development and codification of international law.

The financial reconstruction of Austria-Hungary are also two of the major problems which the League has settled the past year, while definite progress has been made towards the preparation for disarmament, preparation for the international control of the traffic in arms and for government control of the private manufacture of war material—one of the most important causes of war.

In addition, the League has progressed steadily in the handling of all the humanitarian problems entrusted to it such as control of the narcotic drug situation, white slave traffic, exchange of Greek and Turkish populations and care of the Russian war refugees.

Finally, the settlement by the League in the early part of the year of the Memel dispute between Poland and Lithuania demonstrated again the League's ability to handle a major problem in international life after all other efforts and organisms had failed.

As a consequence Leaguers are looking forward with confidence that 1925 will witness an ever increasing prestige and influence for the League.

CONRAD NAGEL and ELEANOR BOARDMAN IN "SO THIS IS MARRIAGE"

A Photoplay You Should Not Miss
Now and then comes along one of those films of which it seems reasonable to say to everyone, "You can't afford to miss it." And that is most certainly the case with the Hobart Henley production "So This is Marriage," which is showing at the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Wednesday.

This picture, from the original story by Carey Wilson, is an ultra-modern one, dealing with the marital difficulties of Peter Marsh (Conrad Nagel) and Beth Marsh (Eleanor Boardman) and the influence of a bachelor student of books—and women—Daniel Rankin (Lew Cody).

The young wife is gay and frivolous. When Peter mildly protests against her extravagance, she retorts: "Why don't you earn more money; other men do?"

She finds comfort in the companionship of Rankin, and runs to his home for comfort when her husband has treated her roughly after hastily taking her from a restaurant where, after many previous experiences, of the sort, he has heard her criticized for her extreme manner of dress, and her irresponsible ways. Finding that Beth really loves her husband, Rankin shows her the error of her ways by reading to her from the Bible the story of David and Bath-Sheba.

WEEKLY ESSAY

"BASHFULNESS"

A person afflicted with bashfulness should not be laughed at, as this will only serve to increase his confusion.

A person may have many good traits and qualities but if he is bashful he will not be appreciated. I have a friend who, though he is a good business man, is extremely bashful and when he is invited to a social event of any kind is in agonies of fear lest he will be laughed at. Once I attended a dinner in a private home where quite a few guests were present, and my friend was also there. He took his place at the table and commenced to eat. When anyone would request him to pass a dish he would reach nervously for it and in his haste knock over a salt-cellar or get his sleeve into something else. As a result he would blush, concentrate his gaze upon his plate, and speak only when spoken to. Of course, his meal and evening were spoiled and I felt sorry for him, but could do nothing to help him.

Bashfulness is caused mainly by nervousness, self-consciousness and by a lack of conversational ability.

In the case of nervousness a great deal of help may be had by training one's self in steadiness and poise and thus gain control of one's nerves and become more confident.

Self-consciousness makes a person ill at ease and causes him to think that people are always criticizing or laughing at his clothes or manners.

To get over this habit a person should mingle with people as much as possible and acquire indifference to such gazes as come in his direction.

Many people when they appear at a gathering or party seem to lose their ability to converse interestingly. They make comments upon weather or some such hackneyed topic and then lapse into silence. I think that if they cannot overcome this fault, they should get one of the books printed for such as they, or perhaps learn several interesting jokes when other topics seem to be lacking.

—Thomas Larkin.

THE BRAINONIAN STAFF Wishes You All a Bright and Prosperous 1925

Snap-Shots Wanted!

In order to put out a good annual, among the chief things necessary are pictures. And among the pictures, one of the most important features are the pages of snap-shots. It is impossible, however, for one or two or three people to collect enough suitable and interesting snap-shots to fill the three and more pages of the annual edition. We ask, therefore, that each individual of the High School give us his support and co-operation and hand in as many good snap-shots of any sort as soon as possible. We feel that the Brainonian is YOUR annual, and that the success of this annual depends upon the support of the students, not upon the staff alone. If each individual accepts the motto, A BIGGER AND BETTER ANNUAL, as his goal and as the zenith of his efforts, the annual will indeed be bigger and better.

EDITORIAL

Yes, this is the last number in 1924, but it is also the first time in the four-year history of the Brainonian that any staff continued to print its weekly page during vacation periods.

Since it is the last issue of the secular year, we are reminded by custom that it is only fitting that we thank our loyal supporters and friends for the past help toward this our page. And, even if custom did not appear at this time with its gentle hint, we would still have remembered our obligations, and the editor, himself, for the first time emerges from the customary "we" to thank his fellow-members of the staff for the co-operation afforded him week after week.

No, we do not intend to boast by calling your attention to the insignificant fact that we are spending a few hours of our vacation in order to keep up the interest in our High School. But what we do want to emphasize is the fact that it is possible to perform the heretofore unthought-of thing with comparatively few efforts. If you find less news than usual do not blame or excuse it by saying that the thing is impossible, as that is not the case. Lack of timely attention and timely beginning may be a cause, but not the impossibility. You can see, therefore, that we are setting an example by introducing a custom, and you will further see, that we are still within our bounds and limits by suggesting that our custom be observed in further years, for the benefit of the public and the furtherance of the Brainierd High School.

THE SCIENCE OF UNIQUE INVENTIONS

Several of the young men in our B. H. S. circle have been shamefully abused—much to our amusement in the Senior Room. Walter Engbretson, as master of ceremonies, Vernon Dieckhaus and Milton Bergstrand, as aides-de-camp, work together as only those three can, and their results are astounding. Even Miss Oldenburg had to give some of her valuable $200.00 a minute time in order to resurrect Bill Opsahl from the depths of despair. The method employed by the illustrious three is unique indeed, inasmuch as the little Mittie and Dick overpower huge opponents with their mighty strength while the usually unobtrusive Wally sits and commands with a domineering grin on his face. When the victim is finally downed, one of his shoes, especially the one that covers unexpected holes in his hosiery becomes prize of the conquerors. Then the mean brutes have the audacity to hide the stolen booty so that the unfortunate embarrassed one will have to search for his property. But then that is the time when the heroes and heroines do their stuff. Upon one occasion they had Bill Trelawney with only one shoe for company cursing fate up in the gym while its mate gracefully dangled from the golden chain of an electric light in the Senior Room. For some time no action was taken to relieve the unhappy Bill but finally Casey Jones, like Hair-Breadth Harry, appeared on the scene and amidst numerous threats of "We'll get you!" took down the shoe and materially gladdened the life of Bill Trelawney by restoring it to his possession.

Returning to Bill Opsahl, the other "Bill" in distress. At first, everyone was at their wits' end as to where to find the missing shoe. Bill, you know, did not dare to look for it, as his sock—well, he might catch cold and Bill plays basket-ball. Miss Oldenburg, then, champion of all downed causes, with a sudden brilliant idea, struck out for the Dean assembly and there—there was the shoe, posing in front of the blackboard. We can never tell what the Triumvirate will do next; but, changing the time-worn phrase, they simply "put the joy into living."

Jerry: "How clear the horizon is."
Bus: "Yes, I just swept it with my eye."

Miss T.: "Carl, you are behind in your studies."
Carl: "I have to be in order to pursue them."

A Freshie stood on the burning deck. And as far as I could learn, He stood in perfect safety: He was too green to burn.

AS THE OLD YEAR DIES

I enter the deepest recess of my heart,
And, closing the sound-proof door,
Secure from the eyes of the world apart,
I study my record o'er.

So much I find written there, I regret;
So many a "might have been";
More failures than brilliant successes, and yet
My one desire was to win.

I missed the road often, I see by the chart,
And strangely from death was preserved;
Where others were faithful, I failed of my part,
Yet blessings received undeserved.

My friends have been many—the staunchest and best,
And true as the morning light;
When tried in the withering furnace of test,
They stood like the "flame by night."

When sorrows gave way to let others succeed,
As wave follows wave o'er the sea,
Strong hands were held out in the hour of my need,
Sustaining and strengthening me.

The story is finished—the record is cast!
Unchangeable stands each word!
The past is now in the eternal past,
As the bells' kling-klang is heard.

Requiescat in pace! Old year, all is well!
No longer your watch-fires glow.
I too must soon answer the muffled bell,
And out into silence go.

—C. H. G. L. M.

Who, What and Where

The annual basket-ball game between the Alumni and the High School regulars is scheduled for this evening in the High School gymnasium. Both teams have a strong line-up and a fast game is expected.

Due to an oversight, an article in a recent issue of the Brainonian gave the impression that the sale of Christmas Seals at the High School and elsewhere was an undertaking sponsored by the Red Cross organization. We wish to state, however, that the Red Cross has no affiliation, whatsoever, with the Christmas Seal campaign, having relinquished its hold on that part of the common welfare work some five or six years ago.

We find that there are several people who would like to see comments upon the college papers as well as the High School publications that appear among our exchanges. It is, nevertheless, impossible to mention all of the different college publications every week, especially in our limited weekly page. The various Exchange Departments of the different institutions may, however, be assured that their papers are very much appreciated.

Ingolf Dillan, teacher of civics in the Central High School, Minneapolis, was in Brainerd during the holidays.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TO BE 'DADDY LONGLEGS'

Rumors gathered from headquarters of the Senior Class have been verified sufficiently to permit us to announce that the 1925 Senior Class Play will be "Daddy Longlegs," taken from Jean Webster's novel. A cast of as high as nineteen people will be required, giving everyone an opportunity to portray his or her dramatic ability. Try-outs will be staged immediately after the Christmas vacation.

High School Gymnasium Gets New Equipment

Due to the courtesy of the Brainerd High School Athletic Association, one complete section of bleachers was added to the High School gymnasium. The bleachers acquired are of the latest make, with a seating capacity of 100, and built so as to afford a foot-rest in the form of an additional length of plank attached to the bottom of the main cross-braces. The bleacher is easily collapsible and can be transferred to any part of the campus.

At a recent meeting of the Senior class, the question of a suitable Senior memorial was taken up. Upon President Lyddon's suggestion the class finally decided to purchase an exact duplicate of the above described bleacher, the same to be erected in a different section of the gymnasium as a memorial to the Class of 1925. The High School will, therefore, have sufficient seating capacity for the rest of the season's basket-ball games or any other entertainment that may be staged.

Miss Spink: "What is peat, Madge?"

WEEKLY ESSAY

"BASHFULNESS"

A person afflicted with bashfulness should not be laughed at, as this will only serve to increase his confusion.

A person may have many good traits and qualities but if he is bashful he will not be appreciated. I have a friend who, though he is a good business man, is extremely bashful and when he is invited to a social event of any kind is in agonies of fear lest he will be laughed at. Once I attended a dinner in a private home where quite a few guests were present, and my friend was also there. He took his place at the table and commenced to eat. When anyone would request him to pass a dish he would reach nervously for it and in his haste knock over a salt-cellar or get his sleeve into something else. As a result he would blush, concentrate his gaze upon his plate, and speak only when spoken to. Of course, his meal and evening were spoiled and I felt sorry for him, but could do nothing to help him.

Bashfulness is caused mainly by nervousness, self-consciousness and by a lack of conversational ability.

In the case of nervousness a great deal of help may be had by training one's self in steadiness and poise and thus gain control of one's nerves and become more confident.

Self-consciousness makes a person ill at ease and causes him to think that people are always criticizing or laughing at his clothes or manners.

To get over this habit a person should mingle with people as much as possible and acquire indifference to such gazes as come in his direction.

Many people when they appear at a gathering or party seem to lose their ability to converse interestingly. They make comments upon weather or some such hackneyed topic and then lapse into silence. I think that if they cannot overcome this fault, they should get one of the books printed for such as they, or perhaps learn several interesting jokes when other topics seem to be lacking.

—Thomas Larkin.

THE BRAINONIAN STAFF Wishes You All a Bright and Prosperous 1925

Snap-Shots Wanted!

In order to put out a good annual, among the chief things necessary are pictures. And among the pictures, one of the most important features are the pages of snap-shots. It is impossible, however, for one or two or three people to collect enough suitable and interesting snap-shots to fill the three and more pages of the annual edition. We ask, therefore, that each individual of the High School give us his support and co-operation and hand in as many good snap-shots of any sort as soon as possible. We feel that the Brainonian is YOUR annual, and that the success of this annual depends upon the support of the students, not upon the staff alone. If each individual accepts the motto, A BIGGER AND BETTER ANNUAL, as his goal and as the zenith of his efforts, the annual will indeed be bigger and better.

EDITORIAL

Yes, this is the last number in 1924, but it is also the first time in the four-year history of the Brainonian that any staff continued to print its weekly page during vacation periods.

Since it is the last issue of the secular year, we are reminded by custom that it is only fitting that we thank our loyal supporters and friends for the past help toward this our page. And, even if custom did not appear at this time with its gentle hint, we would still have remembered our obligations, and the editor, himself, for the first time emerges from the customary "we" to thank his fellow-members of the staff for the co-operation afforded him, week after week.

No, we do not intend to boast by calling your attention to the insignificant fact that we are spending a few hours of our vacation in order to keep up the interest in our High School. But what we do want to emphasize is the fact that it is possible to perform the heretofore unthought-of thing with comparatively few efforts. If you find less news than usual do not blame or excuse it by saying that the thing is impossible, as that is not the case. Lack of timely attention and timely beginning may be a cause, but not the impossibility. You can see, therefore, that we are setting an example by introducing a custom, and you will further see, that we are still within our bounds and limits by suggesting that our custom be observed in further years, for the benefit of the public and the furtherance of the Brainerd High School.

THE SCIENCE OF UNIQUE INVENTIONS

Several of the young men in our B. H. S. circle have been shamefully abused—much to our amusement in the Senior Room. Walter Engbretson, as master of ceremonies, Vernon Dieckhaus and Milton Bergstrand, as aides-de-camp, work together as only those three can, and their results are astounding. Even Miss Oldenburg had to give some of her valuable $200.00 a minute time in order to resurrect Bill Opsahl from the depths of despair. The method employed by the illustrious three is unique indeed, inasmuch as the little Mittie and Dick overpower huge opponents with their mighty strength while the usually unobtrusive Wally sits and commands with a domineering grin on his face. When the victim is finally downed, one of his shoes, especially the one that covers unexpected holes in his hosiery becomes prize of the conquerors. Then the mean brutes have the audacity to hide the stolen booty so that the unfortunate embarrassed one will have to search for his property. But then that is the time when the heroes and heroines do their stuff. Upon one occasion they had Bill Trelawney with only one shoe for company cursing fate up in the gym while its mate gracefully dangled from the golden chain of an electric light in the Senior Room. For some time no action was taken to relieve the unhappy Bill but finally Casey Jones, like Hair-Breadth Harry, appeared on the scene and amidst numerous threats of "We'll get you!" took down the shoe and materially gladdened the life of Bill Trelawney by restoring it to his possession.

Returning to Bill Opsahl, the other "Bill" in distress. At first, everyone was at their wits' end as to where to find the missing shoe. Bill, you know, did not dare to look for it, as his sock—well, he might catch cold and Bill plays basket-ball. Miss Oldenburg, then, champion of all downed causes, with a sudden brilliant idea, struck out for the Dean assembly and there—there was the shoe, posing in front of the blackboard. We can never tell what the triumvirate will do next; but, changing the time-worn phrase, they simply "put the joy into living."

Jerry: "How clear the horizon is."
Bus: "Yes, I just swept it with my eye."

Miss T.: "Carl, you are behind in your studies."
Carl: "I have to be in order to pursue them."

A Freshie stood on the burning deck,
And as far as I could learn,
He stood in perfect safety;
He was too green to burn.

AS THE OLD YEAR DIES

I enter the deepest recess of my heart,
And, closing the sound-proof door,
Secure from the eyes of the world apart,
I study my record o'er.

So much I find written there, I regret;
So many a "might have been";
More failures than brilliant successes, and yet
My one desire was to win.

I missed the road often, I see by the chart,
And strangely from death was preserved;
Where others were faithful, I failed of my part,
Yet blessings received undeserved.

My friends have been many—the staunchest and best,
And true as the morning light;
When tried in the withering furnace of test,
They stood like the "flame by night."

When sorrows gave way to let others succeed,
As waves follow waves o'er the sea,
Strong hands were held out in the hour of my need,
Sustaining and strengthening me.

The story is finished—the record is cast!
Unchangeable stands each word!
The past is now in the eternal past,
As the bells' kling-klang is heard.

Requiescat in pace! Old year, all is well!
No longer your watch fires glow.
I too must soon answer the muffled bell,
And out into silence go.

—C. H. G. L. M.

The Junior Benefit

The students are asked not to forget to reserve either the 19th, 20th or 21st of January to see Richard Barthelmess in "Classmates" at the New Park Theatre. "Classmates" is the first and only picture produced exclusively at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point. We find the hero enrolled as a cadet and subject to all the rules and discipline of the academy in order to produce this wonderful and exciting picture. The Junior class will begin selling tickets next week. The success of their undertaking depends entirely on the buyers of tickets and boosters of the school. Do your bit!

Local Hi-Y Sends Delegates

Mark Patterson, president of the local Hi-Y Club, and Alfred Dillan, Y. M. C. A. secretary, left yesterday for Minneapolis to attend the State Hi-Y Council meeting, which is conducting sessions in that city today.

The first session is from 9 to 12 in the morning and will be spent in grouping and rating the various clubs of the state into either registered, affiliated or standard clubs.

The second session, a luncheon from 12 to 2 will take up the work of the older boys' conferences for 1925.

The final session, from 2 to 4:30, is to take up the work of the Hi-Y Clubs in general, business matters, and other necessary duties.

Who, What and Where

The annual basket-ball game between the Alumni and the High School regularly is scheduled for this evening in the High School gymnasium. Both teams have a strong line-up and a fast game is expected.

Due to an oversight, an article in a recent issue of the Brainonian gave the impression that the sale of Christmas Seals at the High School and elsewhere was an undertaking sponsored by the Red Cross organization. We wish to state, however, that the Red Cross has no affiliation, whatsoever, with the Christmas Seal campaign, having relinquished its hold on that part of the common welfare work some five or six years ago.

We find that there are several people who would like to see comments upon the college papers as well as the High School publications that appear among our exchanges. It is, nevertheless, impossible to mention all of the different college publications every week, especially in our limited weekly page. The various Exchange Departments of the different institutions may, however, be assured that their papers are very much appreciated.

Ingolf Dillan, teacher of civics in the Central High School, Minneapolis, was in Brainerd during the holidays.

EXCHANGE

The Needle, Atlantic, Iowa.—Evidently cross-word puzzle maniacs are to be found all over, but the sad thing about it is that our teachers have taken it up and have given it to their classes for the next day's assignment.

Central High News, Minneapolis, Minn.—"Dulcy," the Senior Class Play was given December 12, in the High School Auditorium.

Litchfield High News, Litchfield, Minn.—The Girls' Basketball team won its first game of this season from Grove City, Dec. 13.

Anokah, Anoka, Minn.—The Girls' Basketball team won their first game from Elk River, 13-5.

The Pinnacle, Pine City, Minn.—This school has won the first two games of the season in basketball. Good luck for the rest of the season.

The Tech, St. Cloud, Minn.—This is a new paper on our exchange list and we hope to hear from them again.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TO BE 'DADDY LONGLEGS'

Rumors gathered from headquarters of the Senior Class have been verified sufficiently to permit us to announce that the 1925 Senior Class Play will be "Daddy Longlegs," taken from Jean Webster's novel. A cast of as high as nineteen people will be required, giving everyone an opportunity to portray his or her dramatic ability. Try-outs will be staged immediately after the Christmas vacation.

High School Gymnasium Gets New Equipment

Due to the courtesy of the Brainerd High School Athletic Association, one complete section of bleachers was added to the High School gymnasium. The bleachers acquired are of the latest make, with a seating capacity of 100, and built so as to afford a foot-rest in the form of an additional length of plank attached to the bottom of the main cross-braces. The bleacher is easily collapsible and can be transferred to any part of the campus.

At a recent meeting of the Senior class, the question of a suitable Senior memorial was taken up. Upon President Lyndon's suggestion the class finally decided to purchase an exact duplicate of the above described bleacher, the same to be erected in a different section of the gymnasium as a memorial to the Class of 1925. The High School will, therefore, have sufficient seating capacity for the rest of the season's basket-ball games or any other entertainment that may be staged.

Miss Spink: "What is peat, Madge?"
M. R.: "Peat is dead vegetable matter that has packed itself."

NO SALE To the man who knows clothing facts and clothing figures

The full page sale advertisements make him yawn like the Grand Canyon of Colorado. They are as interesting as a bashful stutterer trying to tell a funny story he has forgotten.

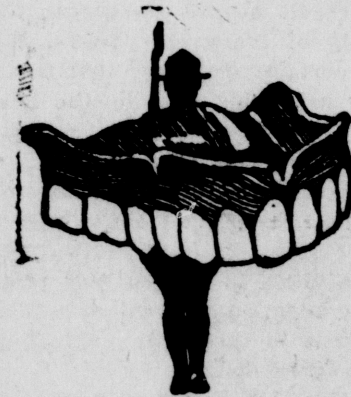

Men who are well read can read between the lines of these suit and overcoat sales. They know that a store cannot and does not annihilate prices unless the prices originally were inflated to the breaking point.

If you'll test this out—if you'll get a line on the Sale garment at $30 and then compare it with this line of new models at $30—we will have the pleasure of listening to your orders and filling your order.

F. H. GRUENHAGEN HEADS THE CHAMBER

Popular President of Organization is Re-elected by Acclamation

O. PETERSON NAMED DIRECTOR

Newly Elected Officers Will be Installed at Next Meeting of Chamber

F. H. Gruenhagen was the unanimous choice of the Chamber of Commerce to succeed himself as president of that organization, at the annual election held on Wednesday evening. O. A. Peterson, the other nominee for this office, asked that his name be withdrawn. On motion the rules were suspended and the secretary was instructed to cast the unanimous ballot of the Chamber for Mr. Gruenhagen.

The results of the balance of the election are as follows:

First Vice President—Walter M. Murphy.

Second Vice President—R. R. Gould.

Third Vice President—W. J. Hall.

Treasurer—A. G. Trommald.

Members of the board of directors elected at Monday night's meeting were: S. R. Adair, A. L. Hoffman, Con O'Brien, Henry I. Cohen, Dr. J. A. Thabes, B. L. Lagerquist and O. A. Peterson.

These newly elected officers will be installed at the next regular meeting of the Chamber, at which time the reports of the various standing and special committees for the past year will be read.

A communication was read from the Bemidji Civic & Commerce Association, stating that Bemidji is interested in the extension of hard-surfaced roads on the much used highways, and is particularly interested in the continuation of the cement highway north from Little Falls through Brainerd to Bemidji.

Frank S. Lycan, of that city, who has just recently returned from the annual meeting of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, in St. Paul, suggested to the Bemidji civic organization that if other associations along the route of this highway would unite in urging upon the state highway commission the importance of this road, its construction might be hurried along.

This letter was referred to the traffic committee of the Chamber, for its attention and action. The Bemidji association will be glad to work in conjunction with the Chamber in furthering this project, and will appreciate any suggestions that can be made for obtaining a hard surface road through Brainerd and north.

Tuberculosis Veterans Hospital

Wm. V. Turcotte brought up the matter of a tuberculosis hospital, which the veterans bureau is planning to erect in Northern Minnesota. Brainerd is being considered as a tentative site for this hospital, and the support of the Chamber was asked in bringing that institution here. Officials from the veterans bureau will be in the city this week to look over the situation, and a committee of three from the American Legion, composed of Mr. Turcotte, Clyde E. Parker and E. G. Roth will show them the various sites that have been suggested.

The Chamber was asked to suggest two or three sites north or east of Brainerd for this hospital. The Legion has mentioned four tentative locations being on the north shore of Gilbert lake, on the north shore of North Long lake, on the north and west shore of White Sand lake, or the north shore of Lake Edward.

The requirements of a hospital location are that the site be wooded, and on the shores of a lake. About 250 acres of land will be required. Several million dollars will be invested in the institution.

Rev. N. P. Olmsted spoke on the proposed child welfare amendment to the state constitution, to be presented at the coming session of the legislature. A general discussion followed, in which Rev. Olmsted and Rev. E. A. Cooke spoke in favor of the measure, and Dr. J. A. Thabes and C. D. Johnson against it. On motion the matter was referred to the proper committee, with instructions to prepare suitable resolutions for presenting to the legislature.

Leo Huston, formerly of Brainerd, and now living in Little Falls, addressed the Chamber on the matter of moving a threshing machine factory from the down-river city to Brainerd. The threshing machine being manufactured is unique, in that it harvests and threshes the grain in one operation, and is said to be much simpler than other similar machines now on the market.

On motion the president was instructed to appoint a committee of not less than ten, including himself, to investigate the company making this threshing machine, and also the feasibility of bringing such an industry to this city, and to report as soon as possible. At that time the committee will be able to state what will be required to put over such a project.

The committee appointed included W. H. Cleary, chairman, E. C. Bano, Clyde E. Parker, Dr. R. A. Belsa, George D. LaBar, Con O'Brien, A. G. Trommald, A. L. Hoffman, R. R. Wise and F. H. Gruenhagen.

R. R. Gould, in behalf of Mr. Wise, expressed the latter's appreciation for the Chamber's support at the recent annual meeting of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, held recently, in which Mr. Wise was re-elected president.

Canning Factory
The matter of bringing a canning factory to Brainerd, was discussed, but no action taken. This factory cans corn and peas, and might be interested in locating in this city.

The chairman of the publicity committee brought up the matter of broadcasting a program on "Brainerd Night" at the Minneapolis-St. Paul broadcasting station, WCCO, in the near future. Local talent will be used for this program, and Brainerd will receive much favorable publicity. On motion the matter was referred to the publicity committee, with the moral support of the Chamber.

The application of Elmer I. Franson was received, and on motion the rules were suspended and the secretary instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the Chamber for Mr. Franson's election to membership.

KIDDIES WERE PLEASING

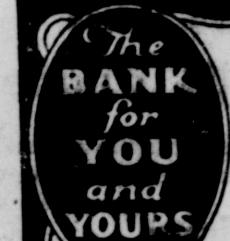

Gladys and Sara Kaplan Shine in Group of Young Performers in "Winnipeg Kiddies"

The Winnipeg Kiddies gave a fine show in the New Park theatre, their songs, patter and dances following in bewildering succession. Outstanding members of the troupe were undoubtedly little Gladys Kaplan and her old sister Sara. Gladys was the sweetheart of the company, demure and appealing.

The children are natural entertainers. Sara sang "Red Hot Mama" and between verses told Jimmie Coghill that she wanted to be naughty and still be nice, but was sternly informed that one couldn't have their cake and eat it too. Jimmie gave Scotch and other impersonations that were very good.

Frankie Bird, youngest member of the company, went through his dance steps with the utmost seriousness. Sara Levine gave excellent violin solos and also showed herself proficient as a pianist. For the last four years she has won the gold medal in the Canadian Musical Competition in which grown folks as well as children compete.

Frankie Barclay gave a monolog on holding court in darkey town in the south. He also recited very dramatically Service's "Shooting of Dan McGrew." All of the kiddies were good, so good that the audience sighed when the last number came and then applauded again and again in the vain hope of securing further encores.

BRAINERD ICE CO.

HARVESTING ICE

Ice This Season is of Exceptional Quality, Says Manager E. A. Romain

ICE NOW TWO FEET THICK

About 5,000 Tons Will be Required to Keep Brainerd Cool Next Summer

The Brainerd Ice Company will soon begin storing up a portion of the present cold weather for use during the warm months next summer. The company's annual ice harvest will begin in earnest within a week, announces E. A. Romain, manager.

The ice this season is of exceptionally high quality, says Mr. Romain, due to the fact that, since winter really set in the cold weather has been continuous, with no periods of thawing which would rot the ice and lower its quality. The ice at Rice lake, where the harvest will be made is about two feet thick.

This ice is being kept clear of snow, and should be frozen to an even thicker depth within the next few days. The icing of the streets between Rice lake and the ice houses will be started soon, and will be continued night and day throughout the harvest.

About 5,000 tons of ice will be required to keep Brainerd cool next season, says Mr. Romain. To harvest this amount in the three weeks assigned to the work will require about forty teams, and will mean the employment of about 75 men. This large tonnage will be taken from a comparatively small area of lake surface, little more than a city block in size. Power-driven machinery is used in hoisting the blocks of ice to the top of the hill overlooking the lake, where it is loaded in the sleds.

Three ice houses are required to furnish storage space for the company's "crop." Two of these houses have a capacity of over 2,000 tons each, and a third holds 1,000 tons.

Brainerd's ice harvest is coming several weeks earlier this year than in a number of seasons past. It is usually started the latter part of January. Last year it was begun during the third week of that month, and the ice was not as thick then as it is reported to be now.

The Chamber was asked to suggest two or three sites north or east of Brainerd for this hospital. The Legion has mentioned four tentative locations being on the north shore of Gilbert lake, on the north shore of North Long lake, on the north and west shore of White Sand lake, or the north shore of Lake Edward.

The requirements of a hospital location are that the site be wooded, and on the shores of a lake. About 250 acres of land will be required. Several million dollars will be invested in the institution.

Rev. N. P. Olmsted spoke on the proposed child welfare amendment to the state constitution, to be presented at the coming session of the legislature. A general discussion followed, in which Rev. Olmsted and Rev. E. A. Cooke spoke in favor of the measure, and Dr. J. A. Thabes and C. D. Johnson against it. On motion the matter was referred to the proper committee, with instructions to prepare suitable resolutions for presenting to the legislature.

Leo Huston, formerly of Brainerd, and now living in Little Falls, addressed the Chamber on the matter of moving a threshing machine factory from the down-river city to Brainerd. The threshing machine being manufactured is unique, in that it harvests and threshes the grain in one operation, and is said to be much simpler than other similar machines now on the market.

On motion the president was instructed to appoint a committee of not less than ten, including himself, to investigate the company making this threshing machine, and also the feasibility of bringing such an industry to this city, and to report as soon as possible. At that time the committee will be able to state what will be required to put over such a project.

The committee appointed included W. H. Cleary, chairman, E. C. Bane, Clyde E. Parker, Dr. R. A. Beise, George D. LaBar, Con O'Brien, A. G. Trommald, A. L. Hoffman, R. R. Wise and F. H. Gruenhagen.

R. R. Gould, in behalf of Mr. Wise, expressed the latter's appreciation for the Chamber's support at the recent annual meeting of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, held recently, in which Mr. Wise was re-elected president.

Canning Factory. The matter of bringing a canning factory to Brainerd, was discussed, but no action taken. This factory cans corn and peas, and might be interested in locating in this city.

The chairman of the publicity committee brought up the matter of broadcasting a program on "Brainerd Night" at the Minneapolis-St. Paul broadcasting station, WCCO, in the near future. Local talent will be used for this program, and Brainerd will receive much favorable publicity. On motion the matter was referred to the publicity committee, with the moral support of the Chamber.

The application of Elmer I. Franson was received, and on motion the rules were suspended and the secretary instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the Chamber for Mr. Franson's election to membership.

KIDDIES WERE PLEASING

Gladys and Sara Kaplan Shine in Group of Young Performers in "Winnipeg Kiddies"

The Winnipeg Kiddies gave a fine show at the New Park theatre, their songs, patter and dances following in bewildering succession. Outstanding members of the troupe were undoubtedly little Gladys Kaplan and her old sister Sara. Gladys was the sweetheart of the company, demure and appealing.

The children are natural entertainers. Sara sang "Red Hot Mama" and between verses told Jimmie Coghill that she wanted to be naughty and still be nice, but was sternly informed that one couldn't have their cake and eat it too. Jimmie gave Scotch and other impersonations that were very good.

Frankie Bird, youngest member of the company, went through his dance steps with the utmost seriousness. Sara Levine gave excellent violin solos and also showed herself proficient as a pianist. For the last four years she has won the gold medal in the Canadian Musical Competition in which grown folks as well as children compete.

Frankie Barclay gave a monolog on holding court in darkey town in the south. He also recited very dramatically Service's "Shooting of Dan McGrew." All of the kiddies were good, so good that the audience sighed when the last number came and then applauded again and again in the vain hope of securing further encores.

BRAINERD ICE CO. HARVESTING ICE

Ice This Season is of Exceptional Quality, Says Manager E. A. Romain

ICE NOW TWO FEET THICK

About 5,000 Tons Will be Required to Keep Brainerd Cool Next Summer

The Brainerd Ice Company will soon begin storing up a portion of the present cold weather for use during the warm months next summer. The company's annual ice harvest will begin in earnest within a week, announces E. A. Romain, manager.

The ice this season is of exceptionally high quality, says Mr. Romain, due to the fact that, since winter really set in the cold weather has been continuous, with no periods of thawing which would rot the ice and lower its quality. The ice at Rice lake, where the harvest will be made is about two feet thick.

This ice is being kept clear of snow, and should be frozen to an even thicker depth within the next few days. The icing of the streets between Rice lake and the ice houses will be started soon, and will be continued night and day throughout the harvest.

About 5,000 tons of ice will be required to keep Brainerd cool next season, says Mr. Romain. To harvest this amount in the three weeks assigned to the work will require about forty teams, and will mean the employment of about 75 men. This large tonnage will be taken from a comparatively small area of lake surface, little more than a city block in size. Power-driven machinery is used in hoisting the blocks of ice to the top of the hill overlooking the lake, where it is loaded in the sleds.

Three ice houses are required to furnish storage space for the company's "crop." Two of these houses have a capacity of over 2,000 tons each, and a third holds 1,000 tons. Brainerd's ice harvest is coming several weeks earlier this year than in a number of seasons past. It is usually started the latter part of January. Last year it was begun during the third week of that month, and the ice was not as thick then as it is reported to be now.

SPORT LEADERS OF TODAY AND YESTERDAY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 30.—Jack Dempsey might have been knocked out in one round by Sullivan when John L. was in his prime. Benny Leonard might have gone down before a couple of Jack McAuliffe's punches. Perhaps there isn't a champion of today in a class with Joe Gans, Terry McGovern, Abe Attell, Stanley Ketchell and some of the illustrious fighters of the last generation.

If you listen to old-time fighters and veteran fight fans you will be convinced that in the boxing game there isn't a fighter today who can compare to the old-timers. Perhaps that does hold good as far as boxing is concerned, but it does not apply to other athletics.

Only opinions are good in judging the merits of past and present fighters, but in other divisions of sport there are facts and figures to show that we are living in the day of supreme athletes.

Perhaps the outstanding athletes today in sports that are internationally known and practiced are Paavo Nurmi, the Finn runner, and William T. Tilden, the world's champion tennis player. Running and tennis are almost universal sports. Most of the others are more or less. Golf is confined to a few countries of advanced civilization. Polo is a sport only for the wealthy. Baseball is a North American game exclusively. Football is played under a variety of rules.

Foot running is one of the most ancient sports, and when Nurmi was acclaimed in Paris last summer as the greatest runner that ever lived, a lot of territory was taken in. Some of the coaches who said he was the greatest runner they had ever seen took in a period of forty years or more of experience and perhaps that is far enough to go back for comparisons. It is quite certain that modern styles and better ideas of training have made the runners of the present decade the superior of old-timers at standard distances.

After Nurmi had won four events at the Olympic games last summer, coaches expressed the opinion that he could beat the best runners in the world at any distance from a mile to ten miles. They also said if he would train intensively for each distance and go out for a record he could make faster time than any other runner has made. He has made a record every time he went for one. When he arrived in this country he said he was going to run a mile some time in 4:06, and it was not idle chatter.

If Nurmi is beaten on the boards here on Jan. 6, don't fool yourself that his ability has been exaggerated or that he is not the runner that they said he was in Paris. There is a vast difference between running on small board tracks indoors and running on standard four hundred meter cinder tracks in the open air.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team returned late Monday night from Little Falls, flushed with their victory over the Elks team of that city by a score of 27 to 22 in a game featured by fast playing, close guarding and good team work.

The large crowd that attended the game was thrilled many times by the brilliant work of both teams. The down-river quint fought to the final whistle, and never conceded the game until the very end.

Hill led the attack for the Brainerd men, scoring five baskets from the field and one free throw. Bollens was the center of the Y. M. C. A. team work, but had difficulty locating the basket. To name any one man as outstanding would be unfair, as every player performed in stellar fashion.

Hess broke loose time and again, showing the Little Falls men some fast floorwork. Heikkinen and Laitala allowed but few shots from near the baskets. No substitutions were made, every Y player playing the whole game.

For Little Falls, Wands and Bastien did the best work. Sprandel, a former Little Falls and Carleton college athlete, refereed the game in a very efficient manner. The crowd was most sportsmanlike, and gave the visitors very courteous treatment. After the game the players were taken to the Elks club for a fine feed.

LOCAL RADIOLAS

GO TO PEQUOT

WILL PLAY PEQUOT ON WEDNESDAY EVENING

The Brainerd Radiola basketball team goes to Pequot on Wednesday evening to play the city team of that village.

The Brainerd aggregation will miss L. Ericsson, star forward, who will not be able to play on account of injuries received while playing at Wadena last week.

The lineup for the Radiolas will be: C. Welsh, F. Nelson, L. Peterson, E. DeRoche, H. Thorkildson and R. Thone.

The game promises to be a fast one; a hard fought battle from start to finish, as the Pequot team is composed largely of ex-college men. It is hoped that Brainerd fans will make an effort to attend this game and lend their moral support to the local team. The Dispatch will carry announcements of coming games with Wadena and Pequot, to be played in Brainerd soon.

WALTER CAMP'S

SELECTIONS FOR 1924 AS PUBLISHED IN COLLIER'S WEEKLY

STUHLBREHER AND GRANGE ON THE BACK-FIELD

(By United Press)
New York, Dec. 30.—Walter Camp's All-American football team for 1924 is published today by Collier's Weekly. No men from the "Big 3," Yale, Harvard and Princeton, are listed. Luman of Yale and Diehl of Dartmouth are left off all three of Camp's elevens. The selection of the famous former Yale mentor follows:

First Eleven: End, Bjorkman, Dartmouth; tackle, McGinley, Pennsylvania; guard, Slaughter, Michigan; center, Garbisch, Army; guard, Horrill, California; tackle, Wier, Nebraska; end, Berry, LaFayette; quarterback, Stuhlbreher, Notre Dame; halfback, Grange, Illinois; halfback, Koppisch, Columbia; fullback, Hazel, Rutgers.

George Abrahamson was chosen guard on Camp's second team.

32 ROUND BOXING CONTEST AT ST. CLOUD ON JANUARY
THE 7TH

St. Cloud, Dec. 30.—More than 2,000 spectators are expected to witness the 32 round boxing show to be held in the St. Cloud armory Wednesday night, January 7. The attraction consists of eight individual matches of four rounds each. Sixteen of the top-notch ring idols of the northwest will appear with the gloves.

Under the direct supervision of the State Boxing commission, the boxing bill will give Central Minnesota its first intimate taste of real fistie attractions. All bouts will be to a decision.

Tickets for the match are already on sale at St. Cloud. They can be secured by mail through writing to Spaniol and Macho Pool Hall, St. Cloud, Minn.

The prices of the reserved seats, at ringside, are $1.65. The other down stairs seats and the first rows in the balcony sell for $1.10. The general admittances, to be sold at the door only, will be $.50.

Under his plan, it is expected that the armory will be packed to capacity for the affair. A ticket shortage already looms as continued orders for the duets pour in. Tickets, it is expected, will be a premium by the night of the fight. St. Cloud police are taking precautions to protect buyers against scalpers.

Billy B. Hoke, nationally known referee, will be the third man in the ring. Other officials will be under the direction of the State Boxing commission.

Thomas Meighan and Eileen Percy in the Paramount Picture "Tongues of Flame" A Joseph Henabery Production

Tom Meighan Star in Last Macfarlane Novel

Thomas Meighan shows at the New Park tonight and Wednesday in a Paramount screen version of "Tongues of Flame," the last novel by the late Peter Clark Macfarlane—a Joseph Henabery production with Béatrice Love, Eileen Percy and others playing in support of the star.

The picture shows how Boland, an unscrupulous business man, and Seanlon, his tricky lawyer, steal a large tract of land from the Indians. Through Boland's efforts three towns spring up on the land and thirty years later Boland, rich and powerful, rules the towns and everyone in them.

At the close of the Great War, "Hell Fire" Harrington, the role played by Tom Meighan, opens a law office in one of the towns. He falls in love with Boland's daughter, Bill.

HARRIS TO KEEP

SENATORS INTACT

WALTER JOHNSON EXPECTED TO BE BACK IN FOLD FOR NEW DRIVE

Washington, Dec. 30.—Bucky Harris will stand pat with his world's champion baseball combination.

When the Senators take the field April 15, the same fielders will be at their posts as finished the season victorious in the American league and against the Giants last fall.

Roger Peckinpaugh will be at his place in the short field. He has sent word to Harris that his leg injured in the big series is completely healed and ready for work. Ossie, Bluege will be back at third, Joe Judge at first and Bucky himself at second.

There will be no switch in the outfield. Earl Neely, whose two-base swat put over the winning run in that last thrilling encounter of the world's series, will be in center. Goose Goslin in left and Sam Rice in right.

When it comes to pitchers the changes will be in additions, not subtractions. Walter Johnson will pitch the opening game and take his turn all season, according to present indications. His deal for a Pacific coast club fell through and it looks now as if he will be back. Zachary and Mogridge, old-timers, and young Marberry, the demon relief hurler, will be on deck.

The newcomers are Coveleskie, late of Cleveland, Dutch Reuthers of Brooklyn and Van Gregg, star of another day, rescued from the minors. All three are hardened veterans and some way beyond their prime.

To critics who rap Harris for "starting an old man's home," Bucky retorts, "I have won all the honors in baseball and now I must defend them. It was necessary to get pitchers who could give me immediate results and I believe I have succeeded."

Harris will have two promising youngsters on his mound staff—George Kelly, a winner with Mempho, and for a time works for Boland, wilfully blind to the latter's unethical transactions. Then a little half-breed school teacher who is in love with Harrington, opens his eyes to the fact that Boland is using him as a tool to swindle the Indians for the second time.

In spite of the fact that Boland threatens to ruin and disgrace him Harrington takes up the Indians' fight. The squabble over property rights reaches the Supreme Court and is decided in the Indians' favor. This turns the entire town against Boland—and what a scene there is! Crowds surge through the streets firing warehouses and shipping. It's a case of mob rule until Harrington arrives on the scene with a little band of loyal Indians who had served in his company in the World War and brings the townspeople to their senses.

pho last season, and Benson Brillhart, who was with the Senators two years ago. The redoubtable Muddy Ruel and young Bernard Tate will be on the receiving end of the slants offered up by the Senator tossers.

One tender spot that almost cost Washington the series, has not been overlooked. Mike McNally, former Yankee, will bolster up the infield and may become a regular at third if Peck's leg fails to come through.

ST. CLOUD TIMES

REVIEWS DISTRICT
BASKETBALL

Aitkin and Crosby are angling for the district basketball tournament to be held early in March. The district, included in the third region, which also includes St. Cloud, is composed of teams from Brainerd, Aitkin, Crosby, Ironton, Pine River, Wadena, Staples and Little Falls.

A meeting of the committee in charge of the district tournament was held Saturday and a vote was taken to see where the tournament would go. The vote has not yet been announced. Staples has trimmed Pine River, and Little Falls has come through in fairly good shape. The district probably has harder competition than the fourth district which includes St. Cloud.

All of the teams in the loop named are fast quints, most of them rivals of St. Cloud in past years. Of the group, the only team that St. Cloud will play is Little Falls, once there and once here.

From a preliminary survey of the situation in the district, it appears that Pine River, Staples and Wadena have an edge, although Little Falls has a fighting aggregation that will be hard to subdue.

The winner of this district will compete against the winners of the three other districts in the third region in the regional tournament to be held early in March at Alexandria.

LOCAL RADIOLAS GO TO PEQUOT

WILL PLAY PEQUOT ON WEDNESDAY EVENING

The Brainerd Radiola basketball team goes to Pequot on Wednesday evening to play the city team of that village.

The Brainerd aggregation will miss L. Ericsson, star forward, who will not be able to play on account of injuries received while playing at Wadena last week.

The lineup for the Radiolas will be: C. Welsh, F. Nelson, L. Peterson, E. DeRoche, H. Thorkildson and R. Thome.

The game promises to be a fast one; a hard fought battle from start to finish, as the Pequot team is composed largely of ex-college men. It is hoped that Brainerd fans will make an effort to attend this game and lend their moral support to the local team. The Dispatch will carry announcements of coming games with Wadena and Pequot, to be played in Brainerd soon.

Dunn Picks Athletics

Jack Dunn, whose specialty is winning pennants for Baltimore, recently made some interesting predictions on the American league race. He says Washington will not repeat. New York will slip further back. Detroit lacks harmony. He picks the Athletics.

WALTER CAMP'S ALL-AMERICAN FOOTBALL TEAM

SELECTIONS FOR 1924 AS PUBLISHED IN COLLIER'S WEEKLY

STUHLREHER AND GRANGE ON THE BACK-FIELD

(By United Press)
New York, Dec. 30.—Walter Camp's All-American football team for 1924 is published today by Collier's Weekly. No men from the "Big 3," Yale, Harvard and Princeton, are listed. Luman of Yale and Diehl of Dartmouth are left off all three of Camp's elevens. The selection of the famous former Yale mentor follows:

First Eleven: End, Bjorkman, Dartmouth; tackle, McGinley, Pennsylvania; guard, Slaughter, Michigan; center, Garbisch, Army; guard, Horrill, California; tackle, Wier, Nebraska; end, Berry, Lafayette; quarterback, Stuhlreher, Notre Dame; halfback, Grange, Illinois; halfback, Koppisch, Columbia; fullback, Hazel, Rutgers.

George Abrahamson was chosen guard on Camp's second team.

2,000 SPECTATORS AT FIGHT CARD

32 ROUND BOXING CONTEST AT ST. CLOUD ON JANUARY THE 7TH

St. Cloud, Dec. 30.—More than 2,000 spectators are expected to witness the 32 round boxing show to be held in the St. Cloud armory Wednesday night, January 7. The attraction consists of eight individual matches of four rounds each. Sixteen of the top-notch ring idols of the northwest will appear with the gloves.

Under the direct supervision of the State Boxing commission, the boxing bill will give Central Minnesota its first intimate taste of realistic attractions. All bouts will be to a decision.

Tickets for the match are already on sale at St. Cloud. They can be secured by mail through writing to Spaniol and Macho Pool Hall, St. Cloud, Minn.

The prices of the reserved seats, at ringside, are $1.65. The other down stairs seats and the first rows in the balcony sell for $1.10. The general admittances, to be sold at the door only, will be $.50.

Under his plan, it is expected that the armory will be packed to capacity for the affair. A ticket shortage already looms as continued orders for the duets pour in. Tickets, it is expected, will be a premium by the night of the fight. St. Cloud police are taking precautions to protect buyers against scalpers.

Billy B. Hoke, nationally known referee, will be the third man in the ring. Other officials will be under the direction of the State Boxing commission.

Thomas Meighan and Eileen Percy in the Paramount Picture "Tongues of Flame" A Joseph Henabery Production

Tom Meighan Star in Last Macfarlane Novel

Thomas Meighan shows at the New Park tonight and Wednesday in a Paramount screen version of "Tongues of Flame," the last novel by the late Peter Clark Macfarlane—a Joseph Henabery production with Bessie Love, Eileen Percy and others playing in support of the star.

The picture shows how Boland, an unscrupulous business man, and Scanlon, his tricky lawyer, steal a large tract of land from the Indians. Through Boland's efforts three towns spring up on the land and thirty years later Boland, rich and powerful, rules the towns and everyone in them.

At the close of the Great War, "Hell Fire" Harrington, the role played by Tom Meighan, opens a law office in one of the towns. He falls in love with Boland's daughter, Billie, and for a time works for Boland, wilfully blind to the latter's unethical transactions. Then a little half-breed school teacher who is in love with Harrington, opens his eyes to the fact that Boland is using him as a tool to swindle the Indians for the second time.

HARRIS TO KEEP SENATORS INTACT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Bucky Harris will stand pat with his world's champion baseball combination.

When the Senators take the field April 15, the same fielders will be at their posts as finished the season victorious in the American league and against the Giants last fall.

Roger Peckinpaugh will be at his place in the short field. He has sent word to Harris that his leg injured in the big series is completely healed and ready for work. Ossie Bluege will be back at third, Joe Judge at first and Bucky himself at second.

There will be no switch in the outfield. Earl NeNeely, whose two-base swat put over the winning run in that last thrilling encounter of the world's series, will be in center. Goose Goslin in left and Sam Rice in right.

When it comes to pitchers the changes will be in additions, not subtractions. Walter Johnson will pitch the opening game and take his turn all season, according to present indications. His deal for a Pacific coast club fell through and it looks now as if he will be back. Zachary and Mogridge, old-timers, and young Marberry, the demon relief hurler, will be on deck.

The newcomers are Coveleskie, late of Cleveland, Dutch Reuthers of Brooklyn and Van Gregg, star of another day, rescued from the minors. All three are hardened veterans and some way beyond their prime.

To critics who rap Harris for "starting an old man's home," Bucky retorts, "I have won all the honors in baseball and now I must defend them. It was necessary to get pitchers who could give me immediate results and I believe I have succeeded."

Harris will have two promising youngsters on his mound staff—George Kelly, a winner with Memphis last season, and Benson Brillhart, who was with the Senators two years ago. The redoubtable Muddy Ruel and young Bernard Tate will be on the receiving end of the slants offered up by the Senator tossers.

One tender spot that almost cost Washington the series, has not been overlooked. Mike McNally, former Yankee, will bolster up the infield and may become a regular at third if Peck's leg fails to come through.

ST. CLOUD TIMES REVIEWS DISTRICT BASKETBALL

Aitkin and Crosby are angling for the district basketball tournament to be held early in March. The district, included in the third region, which also includes St. Cloud, is composed of teams from Brainerd, Aitkin, Crosby-Ironton, Pine River, Wadena, Staples and Little Falls.

A meeting of the committee in charge of the district tournament was held Saturday and a vote was taken to see where the tournament would go. The vote has not yet been announced. Staples has trimmed Pine River, and Little Falls has come through in fairly good shape. The district probably has harder competition than the fourth district which includes St. Cloud.

All of the teams in the loop named are fast quints, most of them rivals of St. Cloud in past years. Of the group, the only team that St. Cloud will play is Little Falls, once there and once here.

From a preliminary survey of the situation in the district, it appears that Pine River, Staples and Wadena have an edge, although Little Falls has a fighting aggregation that will be hard to subdue.

The winner of this district will compete against the winners of the three other districts in the third region in the regional tournament to be held early in March at Alexandria.
